Mirror

The most ingenious Money-box ever invented.

"DAILY MAIL" SAVINGS BANK.

On Sale at all 1/=

No. 323

Registered at the G. P. O. as a Newspaper.

NOVEMBER 15. 1904 TUESDAY.

One Halfpenny.

ENGLAND WELCOMES THE KING AND QUEEN OF PORTUGAL TO-DAY.

KING CARLOS of Portugal.-(Langfier.)

QUEEN AMELIA of Portugal.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who will board the Victoria and Albert outside the Isle of Wight to-day, and welcome the royal visitors in the King's name.—(W. and D. Downey.)

The Duchess d'Aosta, the beautiful sister of the Queen of Portugal. She was born at Twickenham, and was married at Kingston-on-Thames.

The Marquis de Soveral, the Portuguese Minister in London, who joined the Portuguese royal party at Cherbourg yesterday. He is an intimate personal friend of King Edward.—(Russell.)

BIRTHS.

PPER-TUTHILL—On November 12, at 8t. Jame's, addington, by the Rev. E. Louis C. Clapton, M.A., rector 78. Margaret, Lee. S.E., count of the brington of the National Control of the Princeton, and the Control of Co

DEATHS.

HOT WATER INSTANTLY night or day. H HOT BATH in 5 minutes whenever wanted.

WARTS "LiGHTNING" GEYSER.

Hot Water to any tap in house, without Kitchen Fire.

NSPEOT working exhibit LIST "R" post free.

NSPEOT WORKER ON THE WATER TH

PERSONAL.

F.-Expect return of the Laird on Thursday. Trouble in the ajr. Have bought house I live in. Require nothing, simply NELL.—Many happy returns. Call at Chiswick for my little offering. Same place Saturday.—J. R. ARMAND.—Now three weeks that you have stayed away. How can you be so cruel, my love? Come back.— CAMILLE.

THEATRES and MUSIC-HALLS.

DALY'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES.—EVERY EVENING, at 8.15, the new Musical Play, entitled THE CINGALEE. MATINEE EVERY SATURDAY, at 2.30.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE. Mr. TREE.
EVERY EVENING, at 8.20, punctually, Shakespear's Comedy,
THE TEMPLEST.
MATINEE EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, 2.15.

MPERIAL. MR. LEWIS WALLER.
TO NIGHT and EVERY EVENING at 8.15.
The Romantic Play satisfied
MATINEE EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, 2.15.
Box Office 10 to 10.
Telephone 3193 Gerrard.

ST. JAMES'S.—MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER
Will appear EVERY EVENING at 9 in a Romance idapted from the story of Justia Sines Forman, by Sydney Grundy.
THE GARDEN OF LIES. (Last 4 performances.)
At 8.15, THE DECREE NISI, by Johns Bates.
FINAL MATINEE TO-MORROW (Wednesday), 2.50.

9 SATURDAY EVENING NEXT, Nov. 10, will be revived LADY WIDERMERE S FAN. By Oscar Wilde.

Box effice open 10 to 10.

Mr. ROBERT ARTHUR'S LONDON THEATRES.

KENNINGTON THEATRE, Tel. 1006 Hop.—
NIGHTLY, at 7.45, MAT. THURSDAY, 2.30. Mr.
B. 8, WILLARD IN THE PROFESSOR'S LOVE STORY HAND THE MIDDLEMAN.

CORONET THEATRE, Tel. 1273 Kens.— NIGHTLY at 8. MAT. SAT. 2.30. Mr. Tree's Co. In the Great Japanese play, THE DARLING OF THE GODS.

CAMDEN THEATRE, Tel. 328 K.C.—
CAMDEN THEATRE, Tel. 328 K.C.—
CAMDEN THEATRE, Tel. 320 Mrs. LANGTRY shad her London Co. in MRS. DEERING'S DIVORCE.
CROWN THEATRE, Peckham, Tel. 42 Hop.—
NIGHTIV at 745. MAT. WED. 215. Mrs. LEWIS
WALLEE and London Co. in her latest production, VILMA.

THE OXFORD.—GEORGE ROBEY, HARRY TARE, The MYNARDON, Ernst Shand, Dem Crawley, Sugney Family, Office open 11 to 5. SATURDAY MATINEES at 2.30.—Manager, Mr. ALBERT GILMER.

AWUSEMENTS, CONCERTS, Etc.

CRYSTAL PALACE.
THE SHIVER KING, IN THEATRE 230 and 7.30.
EN O'CLOGEM Melford as "The SHOW 230 and 7.30.
EN O'CLOGEM Melford as "The SHOW 250 and 7.30.
EN O'CLOGEM MELFORM CONCERT.
Artistes, Miss Emily Foxoroft and Mr. David Evalus.
Artistes, Miss Emily Foxoroft and Mr. David Evalus.
Table d'Hole Induction and Dinnard attractions.
Fable d'Hole Induction and Dinnard Messar, J. Lyons and Co., Idd., Caters: by Apploitment.

OUR NAVY. DAILY, at 3 OUR NAVY.

West's grand. Naval and Military Animstograph Entertainment. The training of our future Defenders at work and at play, etc.

PEACE and WAR.

The most realistic representation of a Naval Battle.
The North Sea Fishing Fleet—before and after the Tragedy. Prices 1s, 2s, 7s, 4s, 5s. Children half-price.

RAILWAYS, EXCURSIONS, Etc.

RESTALL'S HALF-DAY EXPRESS TRIPS

MARKETING BY POST.

MARKETING BY POST.

PEAKE BROS.
PIONEERS OF THE POULTRY TRADE.
Wholesale Firm that Offer the Public the Advantage of Buying Small Quantities of Foulty and Game at Wholeng Small Quality of the Prices. Prices. URKEYS, splendid quality, large cocks, 6s. 6d.; hens,

As direction, spending quality, sarge cours, as our, means, pHEASANTS, the finest selected, 5s. 6d. brace. PHEASANTS, so area, secondly selected, 5s. CHICLENS, 2 area, secondly selected, 5s. PARTRIDGES, 3 plump, 4s. 6d. QOOSE, a large English Decks, 2s.; Widgeon, 1s. 3d., 2 c., 2 c

HOUSES AND PROPERTIES.

quaranteed pure

- a pound tin

If your Grocer does not stock Fairy (Bahia) Cocoa, send a Postal Order to Fairy, 143, York Road, London, N., for either a 6d., 1/-, or 2/- Tin.

DOTATOES (sound, white, floury), 112lb. 5s.; Apples (cooking or eating), 42lb., 4s. 6d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d.; arriage paid.—Curtis, Chatteris, Cambridgeshire.

DESTALLS HALF-DAY EXPRESS TRIPS.

(Plomess of alternoon Trips London to Seaude.)

2 (Plomess of alternoon Trips London to Seaude.)

3 (Plomess of alternoon Trips London Seaude.)

4 (West Ham v. Southampton, Wusterloon Liver)

4 (West Ham v. Southampton, Bulking Clap. Junc. only)

4 (West Ham v. Southampton, Bulking Clap. Junc. only)

4 (Plomess of Seaude.)

4 (Plomess of Seaude.)

5 (Plomess of Seaude.)

6 (Plomess of Seaude.)

SITUATIONS VACANT.

COOK-GENERAL (thorough) wanted, for St. Mary Cray nurse-housemaid kept.—Apply 31, Grove Park-gardens

A FEW Persons wanted to tint a small number of Christ mas and postcards weekly; town or country; goor prices.—Addressed envelope A., 6, Great James-st, London W.C.

GENUINE HOME EMPLOYMENT.—Tinting . prints; experience unnecessary.—Stamped enveloped

PARTNERSHIPS AND FINANCIAL.

A.A.—HOW ITO MAKE MONEY.

A.A.—HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

We allow 20 per cent, rebate on losses sustained throughour advice.

Better terms than any other firm.

Particulars free on application to all mentioning this paper.

C. W. HATCH AND CO. Bush-lane House, Cannon-st, E.C.

MONEY advanced to Householders and others; £6 to £1,000; without fees or eareties; repayments to suit of $0.000. The suit of $

EDUCATIONAL.

BAU WHITING. Consul menditicity the famous Spe-cialities, Smith-Sanott, 59, Bichopagate Within.

Cidatte, Smith-Sanott, 59, Bichopagate Within.

Cidatte, Mouse College, Ramagate. Founded 94

Cysart.—High-class school for the sons of gentiament;
Arm, professions, and commercial life; cade corps attached boys under 13, 48-page illustrated prospectus sent on application to the Handmater.

MUSICAL Introduction high-class concerts, opera, etc.
Particulars Secretary, 62, Queen's rd, Bayswater.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A A.A.A.A. All with £2 10s, capital up write, mentioning this paper, for free To Maice Money "; no experience necessary; if capital we'll do the rest; money absolutely un coultrol; investors with as protected against po 200 £5 NOTES GIVEN AWAY.

WE ARE GIVING AWAY £1,000 AS ABOVE. Nothing to Sell; anyone can participate.
Send stamp for particulars.
TRUST FUNDS ASSOCIATION,
5, Lloyd sav, London, E.C.

KING CARLOS' VISIT

Royal Guests Arrive in England To-day.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIAL.

Escorted to Our Shores by a Great Squadron.

WELCOME AT WINDSOR.

This morning King Carlos and Queen Amelia of Portugal will arrive at Portsmouth on a state visit to King Edward and Queen Alexandra

The royal yacht Victoria and Albert brings them from Cherbourg. An escort larger than any seen at Portsmouth since the Coronation review accom panying the yacht across the Channel.

There are twenty-nine vessels in all, under command of Admiral Wilson. Eight battleships of the Home Fleet and two first and two secondclass cruisers. Four battleships of the Channel Fleet; with the Cruiser Squadron of six first-class cruisers, as well as two other first-class cruisers and five second-class cruiser "drill ships."

ARRIVAL AT CHERBOURG.

Cherbourg presented quite a holiday aspect yesterday.

The weather was brilliant, and crowds of people thronged the streets to see the royal pair and cheer them heartily, for there is no longer any bitter feeling against the English in the Frenchman's

Flags fluttered in the cool breeze, and decorations rustled over the heads of the people thronging the streets.

Their Majesties arrived at the Arsenal at half-past two in the afternoon, and were received by Admiral Tanchard, the Maritime Prefect, who wished them, in the name of France, a good passage across the Channel and a happy stay in

On board the Victoria and Albert last night the

On board the victoria and Albert last night the King and Queen gave a banquet, at which the chief authorities, British and French, were present. Meanwhile a military concert was given on the Place d'Armes, to which Cherbourg had been invited "by beat of drum," and the town was

The royal couple slept on board the Victoria and Albert in the roadstead, and the vessel starts on its voyage to Portsmouth at 6.30 this morning.

FINGER-POSTS IN THE FOG.

In order that there may be no danger from fog cruisers fitted with wireless telegraphy have been stationed across the Channel like signposts point-ing the road to guide the royal yacht. The yacht is expected to berth at the south rail-

The yacht is expected to berth at the south rail-way jetty at a quarter-past eleven this morning. Royal honours will be rendered by the fleet-at Spithead and by the land batteries.

Among those presented to the King and Queen of Portugal prior to their departure by special train for Windsor will be a number of officers from the Oxfordshire Light Infantry, a regiment of which King Carlos is Colonel-in-Chief.

Last night the Prince of Wales, accompanied by Lord Errol and Lord Churchill, arrived at Portsmouth.

He stayed at the Admiralty House, and will conduct the King and Queen of Portugal on shore afte visiting them upon the royal yacht.

PREPARATIONS AT WINDSOR.

Yesterday his Majesty the King, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, arrived at Windsor, where all is in readiness for the royal visitors.

Their Majesties yesterday morning inspected the arrangements made at the Castle for the reception. The preparations have been on a most claborate scale, and the fine suite of state apartments yesterday presented a magnificent appearance.

The scenery has arrived for the theatrical performances in the Waterloo Chamber, and is now in position. The room makes an admirable miniature theatre.

theatre.

In front of the stage there is a fine display of flowers and plants, and in the centre of the front row are splendidly-upholstered chairs to be used by King Carlos and Queen Amelia, King Edward and Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria, Prince and Princess Christian, and other members of the Royal Family.

The King's guests, members of the Royal Household, and a number of the principal residents in the locality, together with the Guards' officers in Windsor garrison, will be present.

The royal visitors will reach Paddington at 12.5 noon on Thursday on their way to the City.

When the King and Queen of Portugal leave Windsor on Monday they will go direct to Chatsworth for the week.

Although Mr. Balfour is making progress, there is no prospect of his being able to attend the royal banquet at Windsor on Wednesday.

Easterly breezes; fair and dry generally; To-Day's Weather (Lighting-up time, 5.9 p.m. Sea passages LORD SELBORNE

MISHAP TO THE KING.

Slightly Lame Through an Accident Denies That He Wished for War While Shooting.

When King Edward alighted from the Great Eastern Railway Co.'s royal train at St. Pancras vesterday afternoon, it was noticed with concern his walking-stick, and limped as he moved across the platform to the closed carriage which was in watting.

It transpired that the King met with a slight accident a few days ago at Sandringham. While out shooting he accidentally kicked his foot, and the injury, although in no way serious, has proved painful, with the result that in walking his Majesty limps.

A wheeled-chair, such as is used by invalids, formed part of the baggage which arrived in the royal train.

Apart from this slight lameness the King appeared to be in the best of health, the Queen also looking wonderfully well.

When their Majesties reached Windsor in the evening the town was enveloped in one of the densest fogs of recent years. Even a policeman stationed near the Castle entrance was unaware that the royal carriers had noted.

stationed near the Castle entrance was unaware that the royal carriages had passed.

As the King and Queen drove up Castle-hill to the Quadrangle, the coachman had to pull up the horses and proceed at a walking pace, as the surface was in an extremely dangerous state, and he could scarcely see a dozen yards ahead.

LORD ROSEBERY'S TRIBUTE.

Unveils a Bust of the Late Lord Salisbury at Oxford.

Lord Rosebery unveiled a bust of the late Marquis of Salisbury in the hall of the Union Debating Society, Oxford, last evening, in the presence of a large number of people. His lordship, after paying a tribute to the late Lord Salisbury's eloquence, said a striking point in his character was his absolute scorn of wealth and honours, which were as dross to him.

Lord Salisbury was thought to be a proud man, but if he were he was too proud to show his pride. Lord Salisbury held a higher position in the State, and for a longer time, than had been occupied by any statesman since Sir Robert Walpole, though whether he was one of those whom history would stamp as great history alone would show.

REMARKABLE COLLIERY ACCIDENT.

Two Men Killed and Several Injured in South Wales.

At Maesteg Deep Colliery, in South Wales, last evening, seventy-two men were descending in trams to their work, when the winding-tope went wrong, and the trams dashed to the bottom of the level, 700 yards in length. Men were hurled in all directions, and their

Men were nuried in an intections, and the lamp extinguished.

When rescue-parties were able to get to work seven men were found to be badly injured, and others slightly hurt.

Two men, David Evans and Daniel Jenkins, died before they could be conveyed home, and the condition of five others is serious.

POPE SEIZED WITH ILLNESS.

Prostrated by News of the Death of a Dear Friend.

Yesterday was a sad day at the Vatican, where Cardinal Mocenni suddenly died, and the Pope was seized with heart-failure upon learning of his was seized with heart-failure upon learning of his great friend's death.

Happily the Holy Father speedily recovered upon being carried to his own apartments, where he was attended to by Dr. Lapponi, who had just seen Cardinal Mocenni breath his last.

Among the archbishops and bishops formally recognised yesterday were Monsignor Peter Amigo, Bishop of Southwark, and Monsignor Patrick Fenton, auxiliary Bishop of Westminster.

TO PUNISH A PURDERER.

BATHURST (Gambia), Monday .- The Governor BATHCRST (Gamba), Monday.—The Covernor of the Gambia is leaving immediately, at three hours' notice, for Fogni with a full company of the West African Frontier Force and a Maxim gun, under the command of Captain Graham, to punish a chief who refuses to deliver up a murderer. Serious trouble is feared.—Reuter.

MR. BALFOUR AND THE FREE KIRKERS.

It is officially announced that the Prime Minister, having been unfortunately prevented from addressing the meeting at Glasgow on the subject of the ecclesiastical situation in Scotland, proposes shortly to make a written communication on the subject.

ALEXEIEFF INTERVIEWED.

or Quarrelled.

Admiral Alexeieff has been interviewed in St Petersburg by the representatives of several French papers, and has made statements of no little importance.

He emphatically denies that there have been any dissensions between himself and General Kuropatkin, or any interference on his part with the plans of the military leader.

The Order of the Day, in which General Kuropatkin announced the Russian advance which preceded the great battle of the Sha-ho, was, Admiral Alexeieff says, drawn up by the General himself. He denies that he wished for war with Japan, and declares that he did all in his power to avert it. He speaks in the highest terms of Japan's system of organisation, which, if anything, was too perfect in the early stages of the war.

JAPANESE TOO CAUTIOUS.

Had a bold assault been made upon Port Arthur at the inception of hostilities, the fortress must have fallen after a very brief struggle. They had, however, allowed time for completion

They had, however, allowed time for completion of the fortifying and provisioning of the stronghold, and the progress of the whole Japanese campaign in Manchuria had, consequently, been delayed. Again, had General Kuroki not delayed his advance after the battle of the Valu the Russian concentration at Liao-yang would have been severely compromised. It China joined Japan it would mean the formation of a great power in the Far East, which would be a menace, not only to Russia, but to the Eastern trade of all the countries of the world. He hoped that Port Arthur would be able to hold out until the arrival of the Baltic Fleet, but he did not wish to make any further statement on the subject.

ANGLOPHOBIA.

Great Uneasiness Among British Residents in Russia.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 9.—Unrest in British circles here is greater than it has been at any time circles here is greater than it has been at any time during the progress of the war.

It is believed that the Black Sea Fleet is preparing to sail for a rendezous in the Mediterranean, where it is to meet the Baltic Fleet. The very highest authority is quoted for this statement.

Another disquieting circumstance atlaches to the cruisers Smolensk and St. Petersburg, which lately inflicted so much annoyance upon British shipping. These two vessels are now refitting at Libau, and have recently been officially renamed, so that they may not be identified.

The Press and public are Anglophobe to a degree never before attained here.

VLADIVOSTOK CRUISER DAMAGED.

Toxio, Monday.—It is reported that the Russian cruiser Gromovoi has struck a rock and been severely damaged. She has returned to Vladiyostok in a sinking condition. She was surrounded by a fleet of smaller craft, which succeeded in keeping her afloat, and was redocked.—Reuter's Special.

HELD UP BY THE RUSSIANS.

BERLIN, Monday.—The "Lokalanceiger" learns that a large steamer belonging to a German firm, and commanded by a British captain, was stopped off Saigon by a Russian torpedo-boat and compelled to deliver upwards of fourteen tons of coat. The journal adds that the captain was obliged to return to Saigon to replenish bits bunkers, and that he complained to the British Consul.—Reuter.

Saigon is on the south coast of Cochin China.

SEVERE WEATHER IN HIGH LATITUDES.

The Russian steamer Petersburg, the last vessel to leave the White Sea this year, arrived at Dundee from Archangel, six days overdue, last night.

She reports that terrible weather has been raging in the higher latitudes of Europe. The passage to Scotland occupied sixteen days, and was attended by several blizzards.

Off Slatland Point, Norway, the Petersburg sighted the steamer Viking with a large lighter in tow. The lighter went ashore, and the crew of four men were drowned.

The next day the British steamer Lady Palmer ran ashore in a fog near Stavanger. When the ran ashore in a fog near Stavanger. W Petersburg left she had not been refloated.

SHIP EXPLOSION INJURES FIVE MEN.

While trimming a cargo of coal in the hold of the ss. Windsor in the Bay of Biscay a lighted candle was handed to the workers, five in number. A terrific explosion ensued, and the men were so seriously burned that they had to be put ashore at Lisbon for hospital treatment.

AND RUSSIA.

Strong Statement on the Present Need for Caution in India.

TSAR AND THE OUTRAGE.

Our Navy's Duty Lies in Attack, Not Defence.

Lord Selborne, First Lord of the Admiralty, delivered an important speech at Bristol last night on the naval situation and the relations of this delivered an important speech at Bristol last night on the naval situation and the relations of this country with Russia. His Lordship was the guest of the Dolphin Society at the annual Colston banquet. Dealing first with the Baltic outrage, Lord Selborne said the just demands of his Majesty's Government with regard to the North Sea outrage had been complied with. An impartial tribunal would state where the responsibility rested and apportion the blame, and the Tsar had undertaken to deal with those who were responsible according to the finding of that Commission. When the history of Mr. Balfour's premiership was written, continued Lord Selborne, he would not receive greater praise for anything than for the manner in which he had grappled with the question of the defensive organisation of the Empire. It was recognised that the defence of our commerce rested with the Navy, and they were beginning to understand that the function of the Army was to supplement the work of the Navy, They did not require the Army for home defence, and its size must be regulated by its work abroad.

RUSSIA AND INDIA.

RUSSIA AND INDIA.

RUSSIA AND INDIA.

They had to look to South Africa, the coaling stations, the Colonies, and India, and in considering the defence of India, and the army necessary for its defence, they could not overlook the great march which the Russian Empire had taken towards the frontier of India.

The Empires of Russia and of India were now separated only by the independent State of Afghanistan. Instead of a great tract of almost impassable territory, we were confronted with the pregnant fact that Russia had two lines of railway terminating on the frontier of Afghanistan, and the distance which separated these from our own rail-way lines was something less than four hundred miles.

The strength of our Army in India must be governed by that great military fact, and what that fact meant we could realise when we considered what Russian military organisation had been able to achieve in Manchuria at the end of 6,000 miles to achieve in Manchuria at the end of 6,000 miles of single railway line, and when we remembered that there were two lines on the railway up to the Afghan frontier and that the distance thither was far less than it was to Manchuria.

He hoped there never would be a conflict between those two great Powers—England and Russia—but, as responsible trustees for the safety of the Empire, they had to regard military facts.

It was heresy to say it was the function of the Navy to defend the coaling stations. There was only one way of guarding the Empire and her commerce, and that was to pay no attention to any territorial locality, but to seek the enemy's ships wherever they were to be found and destroy them. That would be the one solitary and supreme duty of the Navy in war.

RUSSIA'S BILL OF COSTS.

Inquiry Opens To-Day to Assess Outrage Damages.

At Hull to-day the Board of Trade inquiry opens to assess the amount of damage done by the Russian Baltic squadron to the fishing fleet in the recent outrage near the Dogger Bank. The Court will be presided over by Sir Cyprian Bridge and Mr. Butler Aspinall, K.C.

For ten days past the Board of Trade officials from London have been taking the depositions of witnesses, and in all nearly seventy other spectators of the outrage, or technical witnesses, have undergone the preliminary examination. Yesterday a further batch of skippers of fishing vessels, who were on the Dogger Bank when the Russian warships passed, were questioned by Mr. Howard Smith, barrister, representing the Board of Trade.

Trade.

The inquiry will probably last until the middle of next week at the earliest.

of next week at the earliest.

Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, Mr. Aspinall, K.C., and Sir F. Hopwood left King's Cross yesterday afternoon to be present at the inquiry.

The Home Secretary, speaking at Hythe last night, said one could not be surprised, although he admitted that many persons naturally felt some nervousness, at the delay in the arrangement between England and Russia.

The negotiations, he had every reason to believe, would lend to a satisfactory result.

NEW WESLEY

IN WALES.

Collier Youth's Extraordinary Power Over Rough Miners.

FASTING AND VISIONS.

The Welsh religious revival, led by Mr. Evan Roberts, the wonderful young student preacher, is becoming more astounding every day

A great wave of religious fervour is sweeping through Wales, and great numbers of people, belonging to all classes of the community, are crowding to hear the youthful preacher proclaim his

Mr. Roberts's manner is not theatrical, and his

Mh. Roberts that the control of the meetings that his assumption is in part justified.

Addressing the great congregation that crowded to hear him at Aberdare, Mr. Roberts said that while on his way to the town he had had a vision of a white and red horse, and from his familiar open Bible he expounded the allegory, reading from Revelations.

No Sleep for a Week.

He declared that during the preceding week he had passed his nights praying at Loughor, that he had eaten hardly anything, and sleep not at all; his inspiration bore him up.

Extraordinary incidents mark the rise of the Movement.

A young carter left his wagon and horses in charge of two children that he might pray by the side of a sick man. His employer came along an hour later and was not angry, but also left the cart hour later and was not angry, but also left the cart and went to pray.

Some gipsies, addressed on Kingsbury Common, mear Loughor, though at first uniupressed, were quickly awed, and the women among them fell into paroxysms and tore their hair.

A man leapt up in the gallery of the chapel on Sunday and cried out that he had had a vision. He was bidden to pray. He could not. "I was told," he said, "to throw out the life-line."

The words had hardly left his lips before the consecusion, moved by a common impulse, rose congregation, moved by a common impulse, rose and sang the familiar hymn which goes by that and sang the familiar hymn which goes by that name.

A Sunday school teacher, who had attended the gatherings without any belief in Mr. Roberts's powers, studenly broke into emotional prayer, and his class, carried away by his fervour, prayed too. "I saw," said an impassioned woman at a gathering describing a vision, "a great expanse of beautiful land, with friendly faces peopling it. Between me and this golden country was a shining river, crossed by a plank. I was anxious to cross, but feared that the plank would not support me. "But at that moment I gave myself to God, and there came over me a great wave of faith, and I crossed in safety."

ATLANTIC RATE WAR OVER.

No More £2 Emigrants-Companies Heavy Losses.

The Atlantic rate war is ended, and no more will be heard of "two-pounders" for some time. All the shipping companies concerned are thankful the fight of fares has ceased.

It was stated at a meeting of the North Atlantic conference in the White Star office yesterday that the steerage-rates will rise from 42 up to 45 and 45 10s., as they were before the fight commenced. The Cunard company at Liverpool informed the Daily Mirror yesterday that the report of the Berlin settlement between their company and the German lines was correct.

German lines was correct.

The #2 rate across to America since the beginning of June has made a great increase in steerage traffic, but the loss to the contending companies has been great.

It is doubtful whether the cheap fares proved a boon to any; except, perhaps, to the countries the emigrants were leaving behind.

KILLED BEHIND THE SCENES.

Shortly before the raising of the curtain for the Shortly before the raising of the curian for the performance last night of "The Flute of Pan," which Miss Olga Nethersole is producing at the Shaftesbury Theatre, a gas gridiron at the rear of the stage fell on to the head gasman, Mr. Pigott. He was removed to Charing Cross Hospital, but died soon after admission.

Mr. Pigott leaves a widow and six children.

Since Thursday last the Archbishop of Canter-bury has been suffering from a rheumatic attack, and, though convalescent, has been compelled to cancel his public engagements for the next few days,

NEW GREAT SEAL.

to the Lord Chancellor.

The meeting of the Privy Council yesterday afternoon was marked by an interesting incident.
It is understood that his Majesty handed to th Lord Chancellor a new Great Seal. Although the march of events has occasionally necessitated the adoption of a new Great Seal, the change is a rare d interesting one. Only three times during the long reign of Queen Only three times during the long reign or Queen Victoria was a new Seal required, the last occasion being in 1890. The accession of King Edward necessitated the present change, and at a Council about two years ago the design was submitted, and approved by his Majesty.

The Seal was now, therefore, formally handed by his Majesty to the Lord Chancellor, who assumed the custody of it.

LEAP FOR LIBERTY.

Constable and Prisoner Fall Headlong From a Train.

A bold attempt at escape was yesterday made by a prisoner named John Murray, or McFadzean, who was travelling under police escort from Ayr

When the train was midway between Gateshead When the train was midway between Gateshead and Kilmanueck the prisoner, who was under arrest for burglary, took some dust or breaderumbs from fils pocket, and, throwing them in the constable's face, jumped out of the carriage.

The constable gripped him by the feet as he disappeared, and both men fell heavily. The prisoner landed first, breaking the officer's fail.

The train was quickly pulled up. Both men were found unconscious, though the injuries sustained by the prisoner were the more severe. They are now in Kilmarnock Infirmary.

SHAKESPEARE'S BIBLE.

Interesting Relic Sold to an American for Only £210.

An age-worn, tattered Bible, printed 300 years ago, and purporting to have belonged to Shake speare, was sold yesterday, at Sotheby's Auction speare, was sold yesterday, at Sotheby's Auction Rooms for £210.

The purchaser was Mr. Pearson, of Pall Mallplace, who is understood to have bought the Bible for an American client.

Mr. Pearson declines to say who his client is, or to express any opinion on the purchase; but if the signature—"Wm. Shakspere, off S.O.A. His Bible, 1613"—be genuine, English book collectors have lost a splendid opportunity.

The auctionneer was puzzled by the lack of spirit in bidding. He said cither the Bible was worth twenty times—nay, fifty times that sum, or nothing at all. Unfortunately its pedigree can only be traced to 1850, which explains the lack of interest taken in the sale.

ANTI-VACCINE REVOLUTION.

Many Killed and Wounded in the Streets of Rio de Janeiro.

Seven persons were killed and thirty wounded in the streets of Rio de Janeiro on Sunday in the course of a riot occasioned by the drafting of a compulsory vaccination law.

compulsory vaccination law.

Beginning with a demonstration before the Ministry of Industry, the riot, says Reuter, soon lad all the characteristics of a revolution.

Troops called out to disperse the mob charged repeatedly, but the crowd railied at several other points, and threw up barricades. The water mains were cut, the street lamps were destroyed, the city being plunged in darkness, tramcars were set on fire, the telephone wires were cut, and all traffic was brought to a standstill. An attempt was made to destroy the gas works.

As a result of the rioting, trade and traffic were at a standaill yesterday, and the streets were full of soldiers, marines, and bluejackets.

BOY'S DREAM HOAXES POLICE.

A boy at Eton, left alone by his parents, suddenly rushed into the High-street, shouting that there were burglars in the house.

A large crowd soon collected, and surrounded the house while the police went over the premises. After a long search in vain, the boy was questioned, and then remembered that he had been dreatning that his house was being broken into, and when he woke up thought it was real.

SUICIDE AT FIFTEEN.

STRICKEN BY TYPHOID.

His Majesty Hands the Emblem 160 Victims in a Welsh Mining Royal Motorist Compelled to Seek District.

An alarming outbreak of typhoid fever is reported from Ystrad, in the Rhondda Valley.

Over one hundred and sixty cases from Ystrad and the adjoining district of Trealaw are already under treatment, and more people are being stricken down hourly. The hospital is already rowded to its utmost capacity, and people are being isolated as far as possible in their own homes.

The doctors report that many cases are very serious, and it is feared that the death-roll will be heavy. Extra doctors and nurses have been hastily summoned, and the local authorities are doing all they possibly can to cope with the terrible emergeney.

The first fatality was reported last night, when a Miss Morgan, of Ystrad, died in the hospital.

The suspected cause of the outbreak is the water supply from Tyntyla, where there is a covered tank holding 50,000 gallons. Practically all the cases have come from the district supplied by this tank, which serves about twelve hundred houses. This supply has been cut off, and samples of water taken from it have been sent to the county analyst, but the result is not yet known.

TROUBLES OF THE TWINS.

Rosa and Josefa Fascinated by London Sweets.

The Bohemian twins have not left their bedroon

The reason they explained to the Daily Mirror The reason they explained to the Daily Airror yesterday. Their appearance in the streets would create too much of a sensation. So they sat at their window and gazed drearily at the wooliness outstote, assorbing their first impressions of a London fog.

Rosa was in a talkative mood, but Josefa was pale and depressed.

"Sweets," declared her other half, nodding metrily at the Daily Mirror from the chair they jointly occupied. "They are so good in London that we cannot resist them."

that we cannot resist them."

The result was a headache for Josefa, although Rosa was in no way affected.

NEW SALVATION CAMPAIGN.

General Booth Starts for a Rush Through Germany.

General Booth, the indefatigable veteran of seventy-six, left London last night for a "salva-campaign in Germany

tion" campaign in Germany.

"I shall reach Berlin," he told the Daily Mirror,

"at seven o'clock on Tuesday night. At eight I shall address a meeting 2,000 strong, principally Salvationists, in the Royal Circus.

"Between then and Friday I shall speak at several meetings in Berlin. Then I go to Stettin and address more meetings there; return to Berlin next day, and speak to some three thousand people of the better class in the 'New World'—the biggest building in the city. I wish it was really the New World," he added thoughtfully, "for I'm tired of the o'd one.

"In all these meetings I shall speak through an interpreter.

interpreter.

"Afterwards I am going to speak at Cassel and Frankfort. It will be a big rush, and one of the biggest things I have attempted.

MET AT THE DELHI DURBAR.

Miss Nannie Leiter's Engagement to Major Colin Campbell.

The engagement of Miss Nannie Leiter to Major Colin Campbell, a well-known officer on Sir Bindon Blood's staff in India, is really the indirect outcome of the Delhi Durbar, where they first met.

The bride-elect is one of Lady Curzon's sisters, but less well known in society than either of them. She is the middle sister, and of a somewhat retiring disposition. Miss Nannie Leiter, although possessing much of the good looks for which both her sisters are famous, shrinks from publicity.

Almost her only public appearance was on the occasion, some years ago, when she christened the United States buttleship Illinois.

Major Colin Compbell is at present in India, and there is an idea that the marriage may take place in that country, Miss Leiter going out with Lady Curzon, as soon as the latter is strong enough to travel.

CLERGYMEN IN WORKMEN'S DWELLINGS.

Before hanging himself in a wood at Pontypridd, a fifteen-year-old boy, named David Hargest, who ca eleter to his sweetheart saying that he was very uncomfortable at home. "Burn the letter," advised the coroner. "When people are insane they often accuse persons of doing things to them."

Institution last night.

PRINCE IN A FOG.

Shelter.

JUDGE'S LONG WAIT.

London awoke yesterday to find a regular November fog lying over it like a pall. There was frost, too, and a more unpleasant morning it was frost, too, and a more unpleasant morning it would be difficult to imagine.

Prince Arthur of Connaught was among those who suffered.

While motoring from Bagshot Park he found it impossible to proceed further than Egham because of the density of the fog. Alighaing with his valet, the Prince knocked at the door of a house and asked for guidance. The resident conducted the Prince and his car through the town to an hotel, where they hammered at the door. As it was past eleven o'clock the proprietor came downstairs and inquired what business the callers had to disturb him so late.

Explanations having followed, the Prince went inside and stopped the night, after giving orders that he should be called early. He left at half-past six in the morning and proceeded on his journey.

past six in the morning and proceeded on his journey.

While the fog was more or less general over the country, London, as usual, suffered most. Traffic in the streets was impeded, trains were running in an hour late on the main as well as the suburban lines, and business was hopelessly disorganisec.

At many of the City stations trains were running in by wrong platforms, trains which ought to have started long since had not yet arrived, and confusion reigned supreme.

Worse than this many trains were cancelled.

Worse than this, many trains were cancelled altogether, and business men, arriving at suburban stations for their usual train, found, to their exceeding anger, that the train was not running at all.

Judges Late at the Courts.

Judges Late at the Courts.

The east and north suffered severely, and much use was made by distracted passengers of the new tube from Finsbury Park to Moorgate-street.

The western lines were not much better, and those from the south were, if anything, worse. The Brighton train, for instance, due at Victoria at 10.5, came quietly in at eleven, and suburban trains were equally late.

Several of the Judges were very late at the courts. Mr. Justice Grantham, who did not appear till noon—over an hour late—explained that he had been an hour and a half sitting in a train outside a station.

station. In respect of "fogging" arrangements, the railway companies roae splendidly to their tasks. They put on special "fogging" staffs with a goodly supply of fog-signals. The B. and S.-W. Railway Company had some 300 or 400 between Waterloa and Claphan Junction.

At Milton, North Staffs, Ebor Charlesworth and his sweetheart, Rachef Grindley, strolling along the canal towing-path, missed the track, and, walking into the canal, were drowned.

The body of Joseph Hirons, a Brentford boatboy, has been found in the Grand Junction Canal near Isleworth, he having fallen into the water during the fog.

during the fog.

MYSTERY OF CHILLON.

Young English Lady Found Dead Near the Famous Castle.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
GENENS, Sunday.—The body of a beautiful girl of about twenty-one years of age was found yesterday evening in the wood above the Castle of Chilbon (Montreux).

The deceased, who was apparently of English birth, had a builtet wound through her heart and a revolver clasped in her hand.
She arrived recently in one of the hotels at Montreux, accompanied by a gentleman, who departed the following day, leaving the young woman behind. It is thought that a love affair is at the bottom of the tragedy, but it is impossible to obtain the facts, as the police refuse to give any details.

JOHN ROBERTS IN FORM.

John Roberts gave a superb display of billiards at Messrs. Orme and Sons' Rooms, Manchester, yesterday, in the opening stages of his match of 9,000 up with Harverson, to whom he is conceding start of 2,250.

a start of 2,250.

In the course of the day Roberts made breaks of 107, 64, 60, 101, 182, a superb 303, 188, 118, 76, 66, and 78, showing, indeed, all his old skill. He actually scored his requisite number of points in the afternoon—750—in seventy-five minutes.

RARE BIRD SHOT IN BERNSHIRE.

After an absence from the Kennet Valley of ninety-six years, a rare bird, the great northern diver, has been shot at Hungerford by Mr. Leo-

The bird was last seen in Berkshire in 1810.

Lord Turnour has requested the Central News to deny that he received congratulatory telegrams from Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain on his election for Horsham.

MATERNAL LOVE

Unhappy Mother's Struggle for Her Child.

DRIVEN FROM HOME.

"As regards Mrs. Bradford, for Heaven's sake let the matter drop. I admit it was cruel to keep her at Flanders-road.

So Mr. Charles W. Appleyard, of Flanders-road Bedford Park, wrote to his wife, Mrs. Ada Leonora Clara Appleyard, who yesterday sought a divorce from him, with reference to the incident that upse their married happiness.

Mrs. and Mrs. Appleyard were married in 1893, and for the first year got on very well together. Then a disturbing element, in the shape of Mrs. Bradford, came on the scene.

When Mrs. Appleyard was in her room recover ing from her first confinement, Mr. Appleyard spent all his available leisure time with Mrs. Bradford, whom he had previously insisted on introducing to his wife.

has wife.

Consequently when her husband announced that he had asked Mrs. Bradford to take up her permanent residence at Flanders-road Mrs. Appleyard objected very strongly.

"If that woman comes," she said, "I shall leave the house."

the house."

Thereupon her husband hastened her going. He pushed her into the street, and siammed the front door on her. Poor Mrs. Anolevard was thus turned out into the streets without any money and, what was worse, without her child.

"Give Me My Child!"

When walking mear her old home a few days afterwards Mrs. Appleyard saw her rival, Mrs. Bradford, in a cab. By the side of Mrs. Bradford was Mrs. Appleyard's own little girl.

The mother stopped the cab, and cried, "Give me my child!" but the little one was kept from

Then with a friend she summoned up courage to go to her old home, and took her child in her arms. There was a noise downstairs. It was her husband come back. He called out to her, "is that you, May?" thinking he heard Mrs. Bradford. Mrs. "Appleyard replied, "No, it is your After his that the state of th lawful wife."

After this there was a struggle in the scullery between Mr. and Mrs. Appleyard for the possession of their child. Finally the husband succeeded in tearing it from his wife's arms.

Husband's Cruel Taunt

Husband's Gruel Taunt.

A temporary reconciliation afterwards took place, but Mr. Appleyard again drove his wife away by accusing her of misconduct. He had previously told her that he had only become reconciled to her in order to say that she had condoned his offence. Thus he would have an equal right to the child. When her husband returned from an expedition to the Falkland Islands, Mrs. Appleyard and a fidend played the part of lady detectives.

They watched Mr. Appleyard, and were outside the Ecclestone Hotel when he came out with a lady. They went into the hotel, and up into the room occupied by Mr. Appleyard. Here they found Mr. Appleyard's luggage and a lady's luggage.

laggage.

A divorce was granted without any of the male detective evidence usual in these cases being called.

"APOLLO'S" CAR.

Unsatisfactory Motoring Experience of a "Strong Man."

To the amusement of Mr. Justice Channell's Court yesterday, "Apollo," known in private life as Mr. William Bankier, the music-hall "strong man," de seribed his experience in a motor-car, for which he paid 45 deposit and agreed to give a cheque for £125 balance, if he was satisfied.

But he was not satisfied with the trial trip, and stopped payment of the cheque.

Miss Lucy Weston, a daintily-attired young lady, described the conduct of the car as "perfectly locatid".

The jury decided that, in spite of this, "Apollo" must pay the £125 to the plaintiff, Mr. Frederick Garibaldi Rogers, a motor-car agent.

Fels-Naptha

The total money returned in two years is £ 1 3 6 to 110

They didn't go by the book. They do now though.

Fels-Naptha 39 Wilson street London E C

DESERTED HUSBAND.

Wife Disappears on Plea of Making Blouses.

UNUSUAL APPLICATION.

"H.R.C.R." These letters on the Divorce Court list stand for Husband's Restitution of Conjugal Rights. They are met with about once in two

They were in the list yesterday; the husband who demanded "restitution" being Major C. W. Grey, of the Army Service Corps.

He was married to Mrs. Hearietta Grey in 1896. They went to live in Co. Kildare, and in 1902 Mrs. Grey told her husband that her mother wanted her to help make some blouses. So away she went to Düblin. She refused to come back. "Send me on my clothes," she told her husband by letter. "I am never going to live with you again." In one of her-letters she said: "Dear Charlie, It is no use asking me to come back, or threatening me with law proceedings. I call it very mean of you. You have punished me enough during the last three years.

"Not Got Much Sense."

"Not Got Much Sense."

In another letter she said:—"Dear Charlie, I really must stick to my former decision. I have not got much sense, but what I have got tells me we shall be as had as ever in a short time."

"I don't understand what his object is," said the President at this point.

Wives have often to get a restitution order to prove the desertion necessary to subsequent divorce proceedings—if the order, as is generally the case, is not complied with. But a husband has no such reason. This was what the President, no doubt, meant by his remark.

Counsel: Although she declines to live with him she keeps passing herself off—she takes steps that render his position an unpleasant one. He wants to make his position dear.

The President: I think I understand.

An order for Mrs. Grey to come back was then made, subject to a missing affidavit being "put in."

TRIP TO PARIS.

Sequel to an Escapade in a Boulevard Cafe.

A fashionable lady with a rather unfashionable list of Christian names-it was so long, Mary Ruth Josephine Josia Emily and another one that was not clearly heard—obtained a divorce from her husband yesterday.

Mrs. M. R. J. J. E. L. Gordon was married to her husband, Mr. John Edgar Gordon, in 1898. In October, 1902, she said, her husband kicked her company.

Also, when he took her to Paris he passed a night Also, when he took her to Paris he passed a night in very objectionable company. "Dear Jack," the wrote to him after she left him in consequence of this, "I now know of many occasions on which you were unfaithful to me."

Her hushand replied: "I have tried so hard to work out some expiation. There is nothing more I can say or do."

Sir Ceell Moon, who formed one of the Paris party, described the objectionable escapade. Mr. Gordon went to a "late catée," and danced with a French lady and acted in a compromising manner.

THEFT FOLLOWS MURDER.

Grim Sequence of Crimes at Ithe Hoffmanns's House,

The scene of a murder three weeks ago—No. 11, Park Grove-road, Leytonstone, where the brothers Hoffmann carry on a coal and coke business—was yesterday the scene of a robbery.

Between a quarter to nine and half-past in the morning, when the fog was thickest, the front door of the shop was forced open and a cash-box, coataining £137, half a doore gold rings, and a Post Office Savings Bank book, was taken away, apparently in the horse's nose-bag, which is missing.

Mr. Thomas Hoffmann and his boy were absent from the house on their coal round at the time of the robbery.

William Hoffmann, who was the other partner in the business, recently gave himself up to the police for the murder of the housekeeper. He has stared that he was impelled to commit the crime by the girl's confession that she had stolen the money.

LADY AS JUROR'S PROXY.

An unusual incident occurred at the opening of the November Sessions of the Central Criminal Court yesterday, when a young lady rose and stated that she was present on behalf of a gentle-man who had been summoned on the Grand Jury. She produced a doctor's certificate showing that he was not in a fit state to attend, and he was excused.

The appearance of a lady in court under such circumstances was a most unusual occurrence.

GAMBLER'S DRAMATIC END.

Shoots Himself in Presence of Remarkable Scene in a Country the Police.

A desperate gambler, named Richard Kramer, shot himself through the heart yesterday at a house in Great Russell-street, after firing blindly at Detective-inspector Kane and Mr. Harry Wilson, a solicitor, who had called to see him in consequence of Kramer having threatened to take his wife's life because she refused to let him have £500.

Some days previously he had placed a revolver against her head and so terrified his wife that she went to stay with friends, and consulted her solicitor.

When Detective Kane and Mr. Wilson knocked yesterday at the door of Mrs. Kramer's house they were told that he was not there. The servant, however, opened the door, and Kramer immediately fired a shot, fortunately missing his aim. He then turned the revolver on himself, and fell the state of the solicities of the solicitie dead.

It is understood that there was an old warrant our against him in connection with a gaming house. He has a close that there was an old warrant our against him in connection with a gaming house. He has a close that the same was a state of the same was a state of the warrant in connection with that affair which Detective-Inspector Kane was attempting to execute when he met Mr. Wilson.

Three months ago Kramer went to America, receiving £30 from his wife. He shortly since returned with the apparent intention of extorting more money from her by threats of death.

In despair and desperation, finding himself confronted by arrest, the gambler turned his weapon against himself.

JUDGE'S COURT SUIT.

Testimonial from the Bench to a Country Tailor.

Mr. Joseph Cavanagh, Court tailor, of Savilerow and the Champs Elysées, Paris, sought to recover in the King's Bench Division yesterday £142, owed him by Count de la Tour, a French nobleman with a penchant for fancy waistcoats.

man with a penchant for fancy waistcoats.

The chief items in the bill were seven suits, an overcoat, and six fancy waistcoats, made in London, but ordered at the Paris shop about seven years ago. In two instances the Count seven the suits back to be altered, and when that had been done be put on the new suits and walked away, leaving old suits behind.

Upon Mr. Justice Grantham remarking that there were waistcoats at 24 each, Mr. Cavanagh replied they were made of Spitalfields silk.

An incidental reference by Mr. Cavanagh's counsel, to the fact that his client was a Court tailor, led Mr. Justice Grantham to make an amusing retor. "What is a Court tailor?" he asked: "One who can make a Court suit, I suppose. I went to a country tailor once to have a Court suit made, and be turned it out quite as well as a London tailor."

The Count did not appear to dispute the claim.

The Count did not appear to dispute the claim, and judgment was given for Mr. Cavanagh.

ACTRESS'S REPROACHES.

Scene Between Miss Fanny Wentworth and Her Agent.

In a very spirited manner Miss Fanny Went-worth, a well-known stage favourite, described in Westminster County Court yesterday a scene between herself and Mr. Ben Nathan, the music-hall agent, at the latter's office in Henrietta-street, Covent Garden.

Miss Wentworth appeared in court to dispute a claim for commission on engagements, and filed a counter-claim for breach of contract.

In the witness-box Miss Wentworth, who de-scribed herself as a "society entertainer," and said she was now appearing at Wyndham? Theare, ex-plained that she signed an agreement with Mr. Nathan on the understanding that a certain restric-tive clause could be relaxed. Afterwards she found this was impossible, and she taxed Mr. Nathan with deceiving her. "You know you promised what you cannot do."

you promised what you cannot do. she said to him.
"Do you accuse me of lying?" asked Mr.

"Do you access me or type."
Nathan.
"You are lying in this matter as you have lied to me in others," Miss Wentworth retorted.
"Woman!" Mr. Nathan exclaimed, in indignation, "leave this office. Take your business elsewhere, and never show your face here again.".
"I didn't like being called "woman' in those circumstances," Miss Wentworth said, "though I circumstances," Miss Wentworth said, "though I don't mind being one." His Honour gave judgment for Miss Wentworth on the claim for commission and against her on

Two postmen, William Sidney McKenna and Alfred Lawrence, were sentenced at the Old Bailey yesterday respectively to eight and nine months' hard labour for stealing letters.

MARRIAGE DRAMA.

Church.

COUPLE RENEW THEIR VOWS.

Exhibiting plenty of "sang-froid," and fastefully, but quietly, dressed, Mrs. Maud Margaret Brooke, the ex-hospital nurse, whom the former Cambridge doctor, Dr. T. Belleny Brooke, is seeking to divorce, gave her account yesterday of the circumstances that aroused her husband's suspicions.

She first saw the co-respondent, Mr. Atkins, son

She first saw the co-respondent, Mr. Atkins, son of a Worcestershire farmer, when she went to him to ask for the loan of a horse for her guest, Miss Jardine, who wanted to go cub-hunting; Miss Jardine, it will be remembered, was the young lady who naively said on Saturday that she was fond of racing books.

Once Mrs. Brooke lost her way in a shrubbery, and Mr. Atkins came to her rescue. He esconted her back to her cottage and ther was attacked by illness and asked to be allowed - lit cown. She found a Miss Jardine at the cottage, and told her that it was "very funny" she should have left her in the shrubbery.

"The neighbourhood was terrible," added Mrs. Brooke, "a hotbed of gossip."

Mrs. Brooke was very positive that Mr. Atkins had never kissed her, as Miss Jardine had described.

As On Their Wedding-day.

Then Mrs. Brooke told of an adventure she had with her husband in Naunton Beauchamp Churchyard.

He had come to see her after their separation, and, when service was over, they remained in the empty church. He led her up to the altar just as he had done on their wedding-day. He then took the Prayer-book, which he had given her on the wedding-day, and said, "Forgive me. I will never be unkind or deceive you again." With these words he kissed the Prayer-book.

"I was much affected," continued Mrs. Brooke. "He cried so bitterly. I told him I hoped he would keep his promise."

The case was again adjourned.

EIGHTY MILES AN HOUR.

Motorist Justifies Driving a Recordbreaking Speed

By a slip the Automobile Club omitted to draw due attention to their rules when accepting the entry of a Clement car by the British Automobile entry of a Clement car by the British Automobile Commercial Syndicate, for the Crystal Palace reliability trials in 1993.

As a result the syndicate obtained, in the Lord Chief Justice's Court yestenday, 2850 damages for breach of contract, for, after their car had run well on the first day, the driver was told on the following day that he was disqualified. The reason given was that the gentleman in question, Mr. Weigel, was not on the register of the club as a driver in accordance with the rules.

The planitiffs case was that no reference was made to the rules of the club, and the Lord Chief Justice pointed out that they could not be applied to everyone without notice. He ruled that as a matter of law there was an unlawful termination of the contract and that the defendants acted in good faith. The jury then assessed the damages as above.

above.

In the course of cross-examination, Mr. Weigel had explained how he made a world's record by driving along a Lincolnshire road at three o'clock in the morning at the rate of seventy-nine miles an hour. Though it was against the law, he justified it from a motor-man's point of view, saying "We all do it."

LADDER OF LEMONADE BOXES.

Hearing voices above him in the dark a Glasgow Hearing voices above nim in the dark a Giasgow policeman piled a number of lemonate boxes against the wall of a house in Bridgeton, and by this means climbed to the roof, where he discovered two men. After an exciting clause he captured one, named James Davies, the other escaping.

Davis was committed to the Shariff's Court yesterday on a charge of housebreaking.

-If you Suffer-from any useaux arriving from impurities in the Blood, such as tozenia, acrofulas Scurvy, Bad Legs, Blood olson, Boila, Pimpies, Pheumatiam, Goust, Go, you should test the vame of Clarke'. Blood Maxture, the world-faned Blood Furiness the Bactore. It is avariated to ceases the rising. Thou ands of testimonials from as of the world. Of all chemists and Ask for

Glarke's Blood Mixture

BRIEF FROM ALL PARTS. NEWS IN

Voluntary school teachers' salaries at Swansea are now five weeks in arrear.

Lord Dunsany, Conservative candidate for West Wiltshire, says he will speak every week-night in the constituency for the next three months.

Paddington Borough Council has refused to adopt a report from its committee that motor-car speed should be limited to ten miles an hour.

MOTOR-CAR'S BIRTHDAY.

Vesterday was the eighth legal birthday of the motor-ear in England.

The vast motor industry of the country has been entirely built up during this short space of time, when legal sanction was first given to the present form of car.

FAMOUS ART SCHOOL SALE.

To-day the famous Herkomer School of Art at Bushey will be sold at the Auction Mart, Tokenhouse Yard, by Mr. Allen Drew, of the firm of Debenham, Tewson, and Co.

The buildings are perfectly appointed, and consist of four studies, with class-room, reading and smoking rooms, library and dressing-rooms.

SON OF ERIN.

At Leeds Police Court a sturdy young son of Erin, who appeared on a charge of having been drunk and disorderly, was reminded that he was up on a similar charge two years ago.

"Well," replied the defendant, "I hope ye'll be lenient, yer worships; it's the first time I've been here since the last."

CLOSED PLEASURE GARDEN.

Rosherville Gardens, after many unsuccessful re-uscitations, will soon be a memory of the past as he land is shortly to be put up for sale for build-

Suscitations, will soon be a memory of the past as the land is shortly to be put up for sale for build-lag sites.

Before the place was laid out as pleasure gardens it was occupied by the Kent Zoological and Botanical Institution, of which Benjamin Dis-raeli was one of the founders.

"TO LETS" DEPRESS TRADE.

It has been found that the trade, as well as the residential "tone" of Norwood, have become much depreciated owing to the all prevalent house-letting notices which the agents have placed all over the which over the suburb.

Many of the agents, realising that people turned away from the place by the notice nuisa are having them removed.

BLACK HAMBURGH GRAPE.

That favourite grape, the Black Hamburgh, grown under glass, is to be seen on sale everywhere.

where.

It was brought from Hamburg by an English nurseryman just two centuries ago, and for fifty years was grown in the open exclusively.

For the vinery, with a glass roof, and heated artificially, it only dates from 1750.

VAPOURS IN CHURCH.

Remarkable scenes were witnessed in St. Law-rence Parish Church, Pudsey, on Sunday, during an anniversary service, when, owing to a defect in the heating apparatus, the church was filled with sulphurous vapour.

One after another of the congregation was seized with faintness, and had to be carried out.

In all about one hundred worshippers were compelled to leave the church.

WALKED 145,600 MILES.

Feats of famous globe-trotters are rivalled by the record of a rural postman, named Sansom, living at Corscombe, Dorsetshire.

Since 1876 he has been engaged continuously in delivering letters from Rampisham, and on an average has walked 100 miles a week.

In twenty-eight years he has covered 145,600 miles—about six times round the world—and is still hale and hearty, looking fit for many more years

SPOKE WITH NAPOLEON.

SPOKE WITH NAPOLEON.

By the death of Mr. John William Ryder, of Devonport, aged ninety-six, there passes away not only the oldest alderman in England, but, it is believed, the last of those who met and conversed with the great Napoleon.

When H.M.S. Bellerophon called in at Plymouth Sound with Napoleon on board Mr. Ryder had a long conversation with him. He filled the office of alderman for fifty-seven years, and had been seven times mayor.

HOSPITAL WARDS FOR JEWS.

HOSPITAL WARDS FOR JEWS.

Four new wards were opened at the London Hospital*yesterday by Mr. Leopold de Rothschild, in the absence of Lord Rothschild, to be used exclusively for Jewish patients.

They have been erected at a cost of £20,000 by Mr. E. L. Raphael, as a memorial to his wife Helene, and are situated at the top of the west wing of the hospital and provide accommodation for twenty-seven men and twenty-seven women. A Eitchen is attached, in which the food of the patients will be prepared by Jewish cooks.

Last year the number of Jewish in-patients freated at the hospital was 1,541, and there were then only twenty-seven beds.

In memory of Queen Victoria a stained-glass vindow was yesterday unveiled at Hornsey parish

On Monday next a bronze medallion of the late Dean Farrar will be unveiled at St. Margaret's, Westminster, by Viscount Peel.

Mr. W. P. Stokes, the Manchester correspondent of the "Times" since the death of his father many years ago, was found dead yesterday in his office.

At Lowestoft a fisherman, Walter Brown, was yesterday sentenced to fourteen days for stealing a revolver from the hand of a figure in a waxwork exhibition.

SOMERSET'S JUDGE'S ROOMS.

Mr. Justice Wills is not alone in his complaint as to bad accommodation in Somerset. Judge Gwynne James, holding a court at Frome, has a Gwynne James, holding a court at Frome, has a long list of grievances.

"My robing room is in a disgraceful state," he said. "The walls in the winter run with water, and someone has tacked on patches of paper to keep the plaster from falling. The glass in the skylight is broken, and the room is open to the heavens. I protest against paying for such a convenience."

venience."

The Regisirar, Mr. Percy W. Cruttwell, also has a grievance. His business took him to the room below, where he was perched on a staging in order to sit at a billiard-table.

LIBRARIES FOR THE EAST END.

LIBRARIES FOR THE EAST END.

Thanks to the munificence of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the last remaining parts of the East End that are not supplied with public libraries will soon have this deficiency made good.

At the present time the Poplar Borough Council have in hand the construction of two libraries, both of which Mr. Carnegie has given on the understanding that they are maintained by the rate-payers. That at Cubitt Town, which will cost £0,000, is making rapid headway to completion, and another, to cost £10,000, will shortly be commenced at Bromiley.

When these are creeted each of the two great boroughs of Poplar and Stepney will have four of these useful institutions.

BOYS' BRIGADE MEETING.

BOYS' BRIGADE MERTING.

The annual meeting of the London Council of the Boys' Brigade was held at the Memorial Hall yesterday, about 150 officers representing companies of the Church of England and of the principal Nonconformist denominations being present.

The strength of the brigade in Eondon is about 7,000, while throughout the country the numbers reach over 55,000.

The summer camps are a great feature of the work, and this summer no fewer than 2,200 boys were taken from London alone to the various seaside camps.

TEA DUTY CONDEMNED.

At the minth annual meeting of the Central Tea Company of Ceylon the chairman, Mr. J. S. Holmes, said profits had diminished by which showed that the tax fell on the producers as well as the consumers.

Looking at the additional tax from a consumer's point of view, the fact that the duty was the same per pound all round and not an ad valorem duty, made it harder for the working classes to bear than any other class.

PROTECTING THAMES SIDE.

The Thames Conservancy yesterday refused the request of the National Telephone Company for permission to place six wires over the river at Wal-permission to place six wires over the river at Wal-lingford.

The company urged that the expense of a cable' under the river would' be prohibitive, and that unless they were afforded facilities for carrying the wires over the river they would be unable to supply any of the residents on the Oxfordshire side with the telephone service.

THE INNER TEMPLE.

Among those who have accepted the invitation of the treasurer, Mr. Justice Grantham, and the Benchers of the Inner Temple for the "Grand Day" dinner there to-morrow are his Excellency Viscount Hayashi, the Japanese Minister; the Earl of Verulam, Earl Percy, the Earl of Desart, Lord Brassey, and the secretary to the Japanese Legation, Mr. Choro Koike.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

There landed at Southampton, yesterday, the 1st Battalion of the Cheshire Regiment, which has been absent from England for twenty years.

During the whole of this time, with the exception of two small expeditions in Burmah, the regiment has seen no active scryic.

has seen no active service.

Of those who left England twenty years ago only six returned yesterday.

YULETIDE POSTCARDS.

A delightful set of Christmas postcards has just been issued by Messrs. Wrench, Limited, to sell at one penny each. These cards are really "Christmassy," with holly, and ice, and snow, so real that they make one feel like getting out snow-time clothing. They can be obtained at all news-

Ptomaine poisoning by sardines was the cause of the death of Clara Church, thirty-two, at Romford.

Yesterday the police issued notices pointing out that all Christmas draws held in public-houses, etc., were illegal.

Electric trains are already running experiment-lly on the Neasden section of the Metropolitan

"ANONYMOUS DONOR" DEAD.

The death is announced of Mr. A. Pryor, known to the rectors of the parish church of Spitalfields as the "Anonymous Donor."

He had been in the habit for years of placing a donation of £10 in the rectory letter-box, and always signed his letter by this pseudonym.

LUCKY PENNY.

By using a single penny 352 times in a slot-meter, Flora Whiskers, a Hull woman obtained, until her malpractice was discovered, a continuous supply of gas.

The value of the gas burnt was £1 12s. 6d., but she was fined only £1 by the local Bench.

THROWN FROM THE WINDOW.

At a fire which occurred early yesterday morning at the shop of a saddler, at Stroud, three small children were thrown from an upper window and caught uninjured by the crowd in the street below. Afterwards the father and mother escaped by means of ladders. Owing to a lack of water the story was entirely mutted. shop was entirely gutted

WORKHOUSE LONGEVITY.

How old was Mary Haddock, an unmarried woman, who has died at South Shields Workhouse, is not exactly known, but it is believed she reached the great age of 100.

She had been an immate of the workhouse beyond the recollection of the oldest official, and even the record of her entry cannot be traced.

FIRST PENNY PAPER.

The first issue of the "Liverpool Daily Post and Liverpool Mercury," following the amalgamation of the "Liverpool Daily Post" and "Liverpool Mercury," appeared yesterday.

In a special article it is recalled that the "Liverpool Daily Post" was the first daily paper in England to be published at the price of one penny.

CAR WRECKS STEAM-ROLLER.

To collide with a steam-roller is usually regarded as the depth of misfortune for any vehicle, but an electric transcar has met and vanquished even the behemoth of the roads.

During a thick fog yesterday a Croydon Corporation car, at Thornton Heath, ran into and badly wrecked a steam-roller, while the passengers on the car only sustained a slight shaking.

WORK FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

Work FOR THE UNEMPLOYED,

Camberwell Borough Council, reversing its practice of last winter, has decided to provide continuous work for as many of the local unemployed as possible, instead of giving them only three days work per week each.

It has also agreed to provide them, as far as possible, with more useful work than sweeping the

REWARD FOR THAMES LIFE-SAVING.

At the meeting of the Thames Conservancy yesterday, Sir F. D. Dixon Hartland, M.P., presented a Royal Humane Society certicate and the sum of £1 to a workman in the Conservators' employ, named Lloyd, for rescuing two boys from drowning in Odney Pool on August 29.

Lloyd was also presented with a gratuity of two guineas voted by the board.

COMMISSION ON IDIOTS.

COMMISSION ON IDIOTS.

Vesterday, at the Westimisater Palace Hotel, the Royal Commission appointed to inquire into the care of the feeble-minded held its first sitting. The Marquis of Bath presided.

Mr. Adrian, C.B., was called as the first witness in order that he might put before the Commission a statement of the law on the subject as far as the Local Government Board is concerned.

WINTER CRICKET FOR CAMBERWELL

Yesterday saw the inauguration of winter cricket at Camberwell Baths. There are three full-size pitches, which have

There are three full-size pitches, which have been laid with green cocoanut matting with felt underneath, each 11ft. broad, enclosed by nets 80ft. long and 15ft. high.

The pitches will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays between the months of November and March, at a moderate subscription.

WEEK OF ILL-LUCK.

All last week ill-luck dogged the crew of a vessel at the Corporation Wharf at Stockton. On Monday the bota rarived at Stockton. Tuesday night one of the crew fell overboard, and was only brought to after three-quarters of an hour's artificial respiration. On Wednesday, another man fell overboard and was drowned. On Friday a third member of the crew fell overboard and was rescued by the mate. On Saturday two appeared before the magistrates on a charge of being drunk.

NEW "EMPIRE" JOURNAL.

Weekly Newspaper for All Who Read English.

Never before has such a cheap production as the Overseas Edition of the "Daily Mail" been offered to the public

For five shillings a year a copy of the new journal will be sent weekly, postage paid, to any address in the world, and on receipt of each subscription at Carmelite House, E.C., a letter is at once forwarded to the person to whom the newspaper is to be sent, acquainting him with the fact and telling him at whose request this is done.

The first issue will be ready on November 25, so that it can be delivered in the more remote parts of the world by Christmas Day. Each number will the world by Christmas Day. Each number will contain all the news and principal articles that have appeared in the "Daily Mail" during the previous six days, together with a Review of the Week's Events by a well-known writer. In addition to the news, the current feuilleton, the book of the week, sport, literary, and theatrical notes will be included. The interests of ladies abroad will be carefully remembered. A special feature which will appeal to many living in far-away Indian bungalows and Backwood settlements will be "What is Being Worn at Home."

Backwood settlements will be "What is Being Worn at Home."

That the value of this unique paper is generally appreciated may be gathered from the fact that orders have been pouring into Carmelite House since last Wednesday, when the paper was first announced, at the rate of one hundred each hour.

THE CITY.

Uninteresting State of Markets-Fog and Railway Shares-Rush for Japanese Loan.

CAPIL COURT, Monday Evening.—Markets were quite uninteresting to-day. There seemed to be some slackening of business, notably in Kaffirs, and perhaps the weather conditions must be blamed, keeping clients away from the City. The fogs gave rise to talk about possible unsatisfactory Home Railway traffics, but that there was not much in it may be judged from the fact that the southern lines were in favour. No doubt, the talk of Russian and Turkish loans' severed to remind markets that there were borrowers about. The Japanese loan naturally attracted much attention. It was said that it had been oversubscribed several times, and there is not much doubt that speculators have applied largely, hoping to snatch premiums. Some selling in advance accounted stocks, which were somewhat dull, were adversely affected to a certain extent by the discount houses raising deposit rates. This was interpreted as meaning somewhat stiffer money rates until the end of the property long on this score. Then, again, the big export of gold to Egypt on Saurday, which was not known in the CAPEL COURT, Monday Evening .- Markets were quite

Americans Dull.

Americans Dull.

The leading Home Railway investment stocks sympathised with Consols, as they generally do. But it was more in the way of checking business than in causing a fall. And, in fact, passenger lines like the South-Eastern, the Brighton, and the Great Fastern were in favour, together with Metropolitans, and this in spite of nauth the City and South London & Si decreases. Hull and Barnsley amalgamation rumours were discussed. Americans were much less interesting. New York was giving very little support, and so the close was dull. The weather conditions on the other side were an adverse weather conditions to the other side were an adverse Trunks being well bugght and put higher. The talk of the possibility of British ports being opened again to Augentine live cattle did something to help Argentine Rails. The recent speculators in Mexican Rails, however to deal in. Of course, it is the fear of rate-cutting trigbles between the various companies which is the difficulty bere.

Telegraphs Boom.

after being 144. It merely been a big business, the public have to be in speculative movements. The fillip to Angle-Americans has set all the low-priced telegraph lot on the move, and it is amusing to note how the Marconi scare has been entirely forgotten. There was tumbling, too, of prices in other directions, where when the marconi scare has been entirely forgotten. There was tumbling, too, of prices in other directions, where was the outstanding feature in Foreigners. But once again copper shares have been strikingly prominent. The strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special strength of the quotations for the metal induced in past special specia Kafirs have not been so good to-day. Rather slacker business, and so the market took a rest. There was a disposition to push Banket shares on at first, but and the state of t

NOTICE TO READERS.

The Editorial, Advertising, and General Business Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—

2, CARMELITE.STREET, LONDON, E.C. TELEPHONES: 1310 and 1319 Holborn

Daily Mirror

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1904

A FRIENDLY VISIT.

HERE are many reasons for the friendship between Britain and Portugal, whose King arrives on our shores today to repay King Edward's visit to Lisbon last year. To begin with, Britain helped Portugal to preserve her independence in the seventeenth and eighteenth century, when Spain was anxious to annex her small neighbour; and Portugal repaid this service at the beginning of the nineteenth century.

The great Napoleon was then maturing his plans for bringing us to our knees, and invited Portugal to fall in with them. Portugal refused to take part in a war against her ancient ally, and fought side by side with us in the campaigns which resulted at last in Napoleon's downfall.

Then, again, the Portuguese have been a nation of great sailors in their time, which nation of great sailors in their time, which naturally gives them an affinity with Englishmen. Vasco da Gama, who discovered the sea passage to the East Indies, was a native of King Carlos's country, and for a long time his countrymen had control of this great traderoute. Their skill in navigation and their boldness as explorers naturally gained for them immense colonial possessions. That is another link which binds them to the greatest colonising race the world has ever seen.

We often confound Portugal with Spain. That is a great mistake. Only for sixty years did Spain succeed in imposing her tyrannical dominion upon her neighbour's necks, and the Portuguese still speak of that period as the "sixty years' captivity." They have glorious national traditions of their own. Their language is different from Spanish. There is a noble Portuguese literature. They are as distinct from Spaniards as Japanese from Chinese.

We support Portugal to this day, not by lending her warlike aid, but by drinking the generous wine she makes. Port has for at least 200 years been a favourite wine amongst us, and though we no longer drink it by the pint with our meals (as our grandfathers did), we still consume enough to be good customers to Oporto wine-shippers.

So for every reason King Carlos may feel that he is coming among friends, and for our part we shall spare no pains to give him a friendly welcome. naturally gives them an affinity with English-

CIDER'S CHANCE.

This is the best autumn for cider-making there has been for many years. When October rains fall plentifully the apples get wet, and the cider loses flavour. This year the dryness of October bids fair to produce an excellent brew.

What a good opportunity this would be to push the sale of a wholesome, refreshing, and very pleasant drink! Why cider is not drunk more in this country we have never quite understood. Partly, no doubt, it is because the makers are nearly all old-fashioned business people, who cannot understand that the days when "good wine needed no bush" (i.e., no advertisement) are no longer with us.

If cider were pressed upon people's notice with the same persistence as keeps up the

If caler were pressed upon people's notice with the same persistence as keeps up the sales of particular beers and whiskies, there is no question but that it would soon be as popular here as it is in Normandy. There they drink scarcely anything else, and flourish on it. It has valuable properties, and keeps off many ills. An old adage says:

An apple a day Keeps the doctor away.

People who drink cider regularly are, you will find, a very healthy lot. Perhaps that is, as the "County Gentleman" suggests, partly because cider is mostly drunk by those who live out-door lives. But as a drink for towndwellers, too, cider has much to recommend it.

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

To-morrow, the next day, only not to-day, is the constant song of the idle. - Weisse.

WHAT WE HOPE WILL NOT HAPPEN TO-DAY.

THE KING OF PORTUGAL: And I should be equally delighted to see you—if this fog-would let me!

[The last few days have been very foggy in London. The King of Portugal arrives on a visit to King

Edward this afternoon.]

THIS MORNING'S GOSSIP.

NE is rather surprised that a reputable firm of English publishers should have published such a book as "The Private Lives William II. and His Consort, a Secret History the Court of Berlin," which appeared yesterday, the best it is a collection of tittle-tattle, and it not unnatural that the German Court should have the state of the court of the state of een that it was suppressed in Germany. The he author is a self-styled "Lady-in-Waiting oes not improve matters in the least.

Here is a sample:—
"Her Majesty being as fastidious about girls in her majesty being as fastidious about girls in her from (when the Kaiser is present) as William is about man-servants, she is now obliged to make her own fire in the grate on chilly mornings whenever her husband is at home. What a parody on royal state this—the Empress-Queen getting up in her 'nightic,' and in the cold and damp, to light her own fire! Verily, truth is stranger by far than fiction." * * *

Here is yet another piece of intimate German history. It is the speech which the German Emperor wrote to make to a band of recruits. He left it carelessly upon his desk, and it was copied by his scrupulous retainer.

"Recruits! Remember that the German Army must be as ready to fight enemies that may rise in our midst, as foreign foes. To-day, disbelief and malcontent are rampant in the Fatherland to a heretofore unheard-of degree; consequently, I may call upon you at any time to shoot down and strike to the ground (neiderstechen) your own relatives—father and mother, sisters and brothers. My orders in that respect must be executed cheerfully-and without grumbling."

Nowadays the clergy, when they are not writing

Nowadays the clergy, when they are not writing for the stage, are very often talking about it. The Rev. H. R. Gamble, rector of Holy Trinity, Sloane-

Mr. Alfred Sutro, whose play it was (the "Walls of Jericho") which called forth the Rev. H. R. Gamble's biblical compliment, has not done much original work for the stage. He has translated a good deal from the French, and especially from Materlinck, in that author's earlier and more mystic period. To-day his version of "Aglavaire and Selysette" is being produced at the Court Theatre. He also helped in the writing of the "Chili Widow," and wrote a little one-act play for Mr. Bourchier and Miss Vanbrugh.

Mr. Winston Churchill has been resting from his Mr. Winston Churchill has been resting from his efforts at Glasgow by staying with Lord Rosebery at Dalmeny. When Lord Rosebery is alone there he generally lives very simply, in the midst of iron bedsteads, boarded floors, and bare walls. But he is too good a host to make his gyest submit to these, for Mr. Churchill does not see the point of hardship unless it has to be-faced for a purpose—in South Africa or in the House of Commons. His rooms in Mount-street are the essence of comfort.

Mr. Churchill makes the most of life. He believes in living quickly. Once when his mother listened to him, from the Speaker's Gallery, making a very vigorous oration, she was heard to make the control of the control

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

King Carlos of Portugal.

HE does not look what he is. He looks like something between a professional strong man and a mere pleasure-loving man of wealth. As a matter of fact, he is a keen and elever politician and statesman, as well as a thorough sportsman. That he should look a strong man is natural, for he is possessed of a most exceptional physique, and he certainly appreciates the pleasures of the table. But both facts are quite incidental.

Of his enormous strength there are many stories told. Once, while he was driving on the outskirts of Lisbon one evening, he heard calls for assistance, and promptly went to the rescue himself, for he does not care to be surrounded by guards, and is sure of the love of his subjects. Rushing to the spot, he found a burly highwayman in the act of knifing and robbing a wayfarer. King Carlos promptly knocked the man down and then collared him single-handed.

There are few snorts at which he does not excel-

There are few sports at which he does not excel. He is a very fine swimmer, an exercise for which he is excellently fitted by his build and strength, and his taste for which he probably inherits from his mother. Both he and she have rescued a drowning man. He is a famous shot, too, and is not a little proud of the fact that he has often killed flying birds with a rifle bullet. He is also a noted revolver shot, an accomplishment he would probably find more useful if he were King of Servia or Russia. His tastes in sport are decidedly English, for he is a keen tennis player, and plays quite a respectable game, while yachting is one of his favourite amusements.

ROAST BEEF AND BOILED BEEF.

He is also a fisherman, taking a scientific interest in his catches, for he is an expert ichthyologist. During his last visit to England he paid a long visit to South Kensington Museum to study the collection of fish there, and he has written several scientific papers on the subject. But his favourite hobby is the one to which he is able to give least time—painting. He has managed to capture a silver medal at a Paris exhibition, none the less.

The way in which he continues to get stout does The way in which he continues to get stout does not worry him nearly as much as it does his doctors. They are always trying to persuade him to diet himself, but he does not follow their advice, at least not in England. During his first visit to England he was asked by King Edward what had most impressed him here. After due thought King Cados said, "It think English roast beef is delightful." King Edward was delighted, and wanted to know whether there was nothing to equal it. "Ah," was the reply, "of course, the English boiled beef is also "plendid."

This question of his size is the anha question over

English boiled beet is also splendid."

This question of his size is the only question over which King Carlos and Queen Amelia differ, or rather have differed, for they have left it alone for some time now. He maintains that whatever he does he gets stouter; she insists that if he only took proper care he could reach a more reasonable figure. She has always taken more than a superficial interest in medicine, and once persuaded him to allow her to treat him with some drug which was guaranteed to conquer his stoutness. Before the treatment had lasted more than a few days he looked so miserable that the question was dropped for good and all. She tries to persuade him not to smoke so much—he is an incessant cigar smoker—but otherwise he is allowed to follow his own tastes.

ROMANCE OF A PORTRAIT.

ROMANCE OF A PORTRAIT.

That their married life should be so happy is not strange, for their marriage was a love match, not a political one. It was quite a little romance. Soon after he had come of age he saw a portrait of Princess Amélie d'Orleans, and was so struck with her charming appearance that he begged for a letter of introduction, and at once started for Paris to deliver it. The happiest of marriages was the result.

Of Queen Amelia's goodness the stories are endless. She has saved more than one life at the risk of her own from infectious disease, and many of her subjects can tell of her skill as a nurse. There is a very pretty story of a poor little milliner, which has the merit of being quite true. The poor girl, weary with tramping in search of the work she could not find, and exhausted with hunger and privation, fainted in the street as the Queen drove by. Queen Amelia at once dismounted and went to her assistance, and on hearing her story arranged that her wants should be supplied until she was strong again. strong again.

Her goodness did not stop here. When she was fit to work again the Queen sent for her, and giving her a couple of hats which she herself had trimmed—she is an expert milliner when she chooses—told her to use them as models and tell her customers whose designs they were. The girl was skilfd and industrious, the Queen herself also spread the story, and in a short time the girl who had nearly died of starvation had, and has still, an exceedingly flourishing business.

BANG WENT SAXPENCE!

Scotch Golf Caddie: Aye—she'll hae lots o' siller!
"What wey d'ye think that?"
"She lost a ba' yesterday, and she's playin' again the day!"—"Pall Mall Gazette."

MIRROR' CAMERAGRAPHS.

MISS MADGE LESSING.

A new study, the very latest photograph taken, of Miss Madge Lessing, who is now appearing with such great success in "Sergeant Brue" at the Prince of Wales's Theatre.—(Johnston and Hoffmann.)

A MISSING GIANT.

George Auger, the Welsh giant. His mother, Mrs. Auger, of Notting Hill, had not seen or heard of him for five years until recently, when she read a newspaper account of the theft of his overcoat in New York.

TO-DAY'S WEDDING.

Miss M. C. A. Elliot, daughter of Colonel the Hon. Fitzwilliam Elliot, and niece of the Earl of Minto, and——Captain F. A. Cathcart, son of Colonel the Hon. Augustus Cathcart, who are to be married at St. Giles's Cathedral, Edinburgh, to-day.

TSAR'S FEMALE SPY.

Liube Petrokoff, one of the Tsar's female spies, who travelled among the peasantry under a host of disguises. Her body has just been recovered from the Neva.

A PATHETIC MEMENTO.

Mr. T. Greaves, the Grimsby enginedriver, whose poem to Mrs. Whitaker Wright on the death of her husband resulted in her sending him the late financier's tobacco-pouch, seen abovg.

TOO MI

Where the sea has encroached on the Holywell. An army of workmen is dai protect the railway

The effect of the drought at Pennistone that remains now is

THE NEEDHA

Hurstlea, the residence of Mr. Samue owner of the Penny Bank at Needham payment. It was in the smaller buildir bank business was tr

NEWS OF THE DAY SEEN THROUGH THE CH

ND-

ern Railway Company's line at lding a great embankment to e, Holywell.)

nerly one huge reservoir, but all s photograph.

FAILURE.

This cottage was erected by a deceased member of the Maw family, as a monument of philanthropy.

5,000 HEADS.

Cheng-Lo-Foo, the public executioner of Chifu, who has just died. He took part in more than five thousand executions during the past four years.

30 YEARS AN ABSTAINER.

Mr. Reginald Seely, in his regalia of the Good Templars. He is the only member of the Order with the Free dom of the City of London, and has been an abstainer for over thirty years.

MR. LEWIS WALLER,

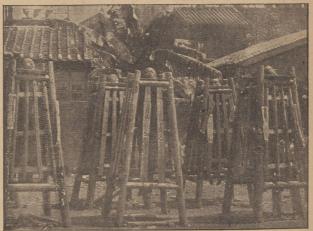

As Mohun, in "His Majesty's Servant," at the Imperial Theatre. Mr. Waller has been commanded by the King to give a performance of "Monsieur Beaucaire" at Windsor next Saturday evening, in honour of the visit of the King and Queen of Portugal.—(Copyright: "Play Pictorial.")

WHERE THE ROYAL TRAIN IS HOUSED.

The newly-built shed at King's Lynn, where their Majesties' train is stored. When either the King or Queen are in residence at Sandringham House the royal special is always kept in this shed in readiness for any emergency.

IN A CHINESE PRISON.

This is how the Chinese authorities deal with Canton river pirates. They are placed in this cage, with their hands and feet tied, and exposed for days to the sun, and are kept without food.

"THE SIN OF DAVID."

Author of "Paolo and Francesca Publishes a Feeble Play.

THE SIN OF DAVID. By Stephen Phillips. Mac nillan. 4s. 6d. net. Published To-day.

In Mr. Stephen Phillips's new poetic play the poetry is scarce and the drama feeble. Nor is the character-drawing of any value.

The Roundhead commander, who commits the same sin as David committed when his love for Bathsheba made him place Uriah in the forefront of the battle, is not a real person at all.

Cold I had lived, pure, narrow, temperate, A girded swordsman pressing to the mark, So rode I through that gate. Then suddenly Thy beauty, like a tempest, fell on me; And in one moment was I rent and riven.

And in one moment was I rent and riven.

That is how Sir Hubert Lisle explains himself. But if he really lived as he says he did, "pure, narrow, temperate," he would never have been vanquished in the twinkling of an eye by the mere sight of a pretty woman.

Nor is it fair to make the husband of this pretty woman a grim old tyrant. Of course, she was ready to betray a husband who spoke to her like this:

I'll starve this feed of indolence out of you. This sort of thing merely serves to excuse Miriam's fault. It is bad morality as well as poor stuff in the dramatic line.

In the last act, which takes place after an interval of four or five years (the author is not certain which), the child which has been born to Lisle and Miriam dies just as King David's child did. Mr. Phillips again shows that entire lack of dramatic inyention which characterised his earlier plays.

Here and there are fine passages of verse. More than once Mr. Phillips expresses very prettily the feelings of parents for their child. This, too, is a passable lover's outburst:—

Thou hast unlocked the loveliness of earth, Leading me through thy beauty to all beauty. Thou has admitted me to mystery. Taught me the different souls of all the stars; Through thee have I inherited this air, Through thee have I inherited this air, And now on eyes long blinded flames the world.

But, as a whole, the piece effectually disposes of the hope that Mr. Phillips was the "coming dramatist." He had much better leave off play-writing and stick to epic and lyric poetry, in which he has proved his very great talent.

PORTRAIT OF A GENIUS.

A Cabman's Criticism of R. L. Stevenson's Strange Appearance.

"The first time I saw Robert Louis Stevenson," says Mr. William Sharp, in a delightful book, called Literary Geography," which he has just published, "was at Waterloo Station

"He was tall, thin, spare. His clothes hung about him as the clothes of a convalescent who has lost bulk and weight after long fever. He had on a jacket of black velveteen, and a flannel shirt attention.

"But the extraordinariness of the impression was of a man who had just been rescued from the sea or a river. Except for the fact that his clothes did not drip, that the long black locks hung limp but not moist, and that the short velveteen jacket was disreputable but not damp, this impression of a man just come or taken from the water was overwhelming. That it was not merely an impression of my own was proved by the exclamation of a cabman: 'Looks like a soorcide, don't he, sir?'"

"THE SOUL OF THE KING."

No fewer than twenty-nine photographs of the

No fewer than twenty-nine photographs of the King appear in the Christmas number of the "London Magazine," one of the best numbers this popular periodical has ever issued.

His Majesty is shown at all ages and in every possible character: as a man of business at his writing-desk, as a Field-Marshal, as an Admiral, as a Freemason, as a barrister, as a sportsmanthese are only a few. It is a most interesting idea very cleverly carried out.

The articles on "Shall We Live on Earth Again?" we noticed on Friday. Other contributions of special interest (though it is difficult to choose where all are so good) are "What to Dance at Christmas," "A 500-mile Funeral March," and "The Finest Dinner I Have Ever Eaten."

It having become known that Kuropatkin means little partridge, we naturally yearn to learn the Japanese equivalent for toast.—" Judge."

LAST NIGHT'S OLD ENGLISH PLAY.

Farce Which Amused Playgoers in the Specious Days of Queen Elizabeth.

The enthusiastic "Mermaid" Society is this week producing, at the Royalty Theatre, an musing old burlesque, "The Knight of the Burnng Pestle," by Beaumont and Fletcher, which hows how people made fun of each other in Elizabethan days.

Elizabethan days.

It begins in an amusing way. On comes the Speaker of the Prologue, and begins his speech. Hardly has he said two lines when voices at the back of the audience are heard interrupting him. The voices are those of an Elizabethan grocer and his wife, who loudly entreat the Prologue Speaker to let their fat apprentice Ralph on to the stage, to play a part with the other actors.

The Prologue gentleman gives in. On to the stage come the Clitzen, the Clitzen's Wife, and Ralph. Ralph goes behind the curtain. The other two sit at the side of the stage, like Sly in "The Taming of the Shrew," and make ridiculous comments on the play and on fat Ralph, of whom they are so proud.

ments on the play and on fat Ralph, of whom they are so proud.

The play itself pokes fun at all the absurdities of its time, including the C.I.V. of the period—the London "train-bands" who exercised on Moorfields. This may not sound very entertaining. But it is. Go and see Ralph fighting a Barber, getting knocked down with a pestle, and being egged on by the absurd citizen and his wife at the side of the stage. You will certainly not be bored by Mr. Nigel Playfair as Ralph, nor by Mrs. Theodore Wright as the Citizen's Wife. Both are really quite funny. Mr. James Brown, too, contributes a very diverting sibnoette of a lanky apprentice. The rest mean well.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

About Mrs. Craigie's Play and Miss Nethersole's Performance in It.

Miss Nethersole did her best. - "St. James's

"The Flute of Pan" is a tedious piece of work. "Daily Mail."

Miss Nethersole's performance had both charm and understanding.—" Daily Express."

Mrs. Craigie sets at naught the elementary principles of playwriting.—"Pall Mall Gazette."

Miss Nethersole acts with dignity and grace, if with a rather teasing excess of "manner."—
"Times."

Miss Nethersole has inexplicably cast herself for part which calls for qualities she does not possess.—" Morning Leader."

Deserts of talk, with here and there a happy outh, and some spectacles of unprecedented bril-iancy.—"Morning Post."

By no stretch of courtesy could "The Flute of Pan" be ranked among its author's worthiest efforts.—"Daily Telegraph."

Miss Nethersole's Margaret is one of the mo nteresting pieces of acting we have had for ong time.—"Westminster Gazette."

The play might have had more success if the part of the Princess had been taken by an actress other than Miss Olga Nethersole.—" Daily News."

If diligent labour could prevail, Miss Nethersole would make much of the heroine; but, in spite of all efforts, the performance was never convincing.— "Standard."

Miss Nethersole, notwithstanding her consider-able powers of a kind, proved herself lacking in just the qualities needed for such a part as that of the Princess.—"Daily Chronicle."

EVOLUTION OF BREAKFAST.

No Longer a Sociable Meal in These Days of Rush and Excitement.

Breakfast as most people understand it, is a comparatively modern institution, dating back only to the early part of last century.

In very early times breakfast consisted of a draught of ale only, or on special occasions of light Italian wines. About the commencement of light Italian wines. About the commencement of the sixteenth century breakfast grew to be a far more important meal. Accounts are given of a small party consuming half a chine of mutton, a chine of beef, a quart each of beer and wine.

Later on plum cake and hot rolls graced the breakfast board, with eggs and butter to follow, thus gradually working round to the breakfast tables in country houses of to-day, where every kind of delicacy is found.

Breakfast in the early nineteenth century grew to be more and more of a social meal, especially in country houses, where it was quite the pleasantest part of the day. But that is a fashion which has died out.

in country houses, where it was quite the pleasant-est part of the day. But that is a fashion which has died out.

The stress and strain of modern life is responsible for this. People nowadays live every moment of their time at such high pressure that breakfast in one's own room, or in bed, has become for many an absolute necessity.

THROUGH EAST AFRICAN SPECTACLES.

Dusky Chieftain Who Was Almost Killed by British Kindness.

UGANDA'S KATIKIRO IN ENGLAND. By his ecretary, Han Mukasa. Translated and Edited by the tev. E. Millar, with an Introduction by Sir H. H. Johnton. Hutchinson. 10s. 6d. Published To-day.

"When you see a piece of work done Europeans, you become like a little child in think ing about their work, it is so wonderful." spake the secretary of Uganda's Katikiro (Prime Minister), when he paid us a visit with his master at Coronation time. The Katikiro is at no time, we imagine, a very sophisticated person; but this naive story of his impressions reveals his gentle simplicity with completeness.

It is pathetic to read of the way in which he was hurried about in England. He had no rest for his feet, and he was perpetually ill—ill in the boat, ill in the hotel, ill in the trains.

If you agreed to everything the English beg you to do (he says), you would get ill and die a sudden death, because they are so kind they want you to see everything, and to talk to them all day long.

Everything the Katikiro saw he wondered at, and everything he was told he believed. He was told hat "buck up" means "come again," and he believed. He was told that dry biscuits cure sea-ickness, and he believed again. He also believes fortunately) that we are the greatest race on earth, which is precisely what we meant him to believe thortunatery that we are the greatest rate of early, which is precisely what we meant him to believe when we brought him over to the Coronation. Even before he got to England he began to admire. He was taught, for example, a game called "Pong-pon," which he likes immensely. It is played with "a round ball about the size of a qual's eag." After his delitious experience "we ail's egg." After this delirious experience "wd some soda-water and went home at 9.30 p.m.

Here is a specimen of the Katikiro's descriptive style applied to a train. "I can compare it to nothing but to a swallow, because it went so very

Finally, let us quote the Katikiro's view of the King:

He has a magnificent chest which he throws out like a ion; his voice rolls from it like that of a lion, as is the sustom with princes.

He has a very fine beard, which is nearly white, and Excellent Katikiro! We part from thy gentle ramblings with regret. "Buck up," great warrior (which, as you know, means "come again").

BISHOPS ON THE TREADMILL.

A Book of Recollections by a Well-known Prison Inspector.

Major Arthur Griffiths is well known as a prison ispector. Few people know more than he of the rays of criminals. In "Fifty Years of Public Service" (Cassell) he takes us amongst them and tells us many interesting things about their lives

In prison.

When Major Criffiths first started prison work in 1870 he found the system far from satisfactory. The convicts would do almost anything to get into hospital and escape their daily round of labour. One broke from his party and laid his legs on the rails when some trucks were passing. Another threw himself between a truck-load of clay and the barrier of iron against which the truck empired f.

ther convicts suffered in other ways. A certain dy, whom Major Griffiths calls Captain X, was fibly distressed at the coarse prison clothes. He I to make up for the lack of the pomatums hair-oils which had once made him so fascing by "skimming the grease off the surface of soup" and applying it to his "scanty red z"."

Inc treat-wheet was aposished in 1895. Major Griffiths tells us how at York, when some bishops came to see his prison, they asked to be placed in he wheel to see how it affected them. "The sight of a dozen or more black-gaitered legs ascending the cruel staircase" must have been interesting. The bishops did not like it at all.

be bishops did not like it at unwomen prisoners, it seems, cause more trouble an any others. They are generally hysterical, ry often violent. Once, at Milibank, they wented and nearly carried out a plot to murder thin and matron. Luckily it was disinvented and nearly carried out a plot to murder the chaffain and matron. Luckily it was discovered in time. Another time female prisoners made deafening and continuous noise by drumming on their cell doors with their feet. That was just to annoy the warders. Their feet had to be put in "feet-cuffs."

put in "feet-cuffs."

It is a strange, diseased world—the world of prisons—very interesting to read about. Nearer to it than that we would rather not go.

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD COMEDIAN.

Among the applicants to the Drury Lane management for the late Dan Leno's part in the coming pantonime was a boy of fourteen. He did not get what he wanted, but he will appear in the piece in the character of a lizard. At any rate, he has got something by his bold request.

THROUGH THE "MIRROR."

DO MIRACLES HAPPEN?

The monk Ignatius appears to desire to outrival Saints Francis of Assisi and Dominic.

Allow me to say that a miracle is a violation of natural law. Therefore a miracle cannot take place.

SCIENTIST.

My answer is-Certainly they happen, and

My answer is—Certainly they happen, and always have happened.
What is a miracle? I take the dictionary meaning—"An act, or effect sensibly deviating from the known laws of nature, wrought, or supposed to be wrought, by the direct interposition, aid, or permission of a supernatural being."
There is not any doubt that such acts, or effects, have marked the whole course of human history. I myself have witnessed many. It is fashionable just now to cover them with the politic, though vague term, phsychology.

S. KEYWORTH.

Our hospitals are filled to overflowing with

Our hospitals are filled to overflowing with accident cases, accidents happening daily, and there is no case on record, as far as I have been able to see myself, or learn from others, that has ever pregressed to recovery on supernatural lines.

Many wonderful recoveries do take place. But it is the skilled surgeon, with his present knowledge of aseptic and antiseptic methods of treatment, combined with trained nursing, who raises the apparently dying and enables them to once again take up their beds and walk.

G.W.S.,

Aldgate.

M.R.C.S., Eng.

BOOING AT THE SHAFTESBURY.

I am amazed to read in other papers than the Daily Mirror that there was a "scene" on Satur-

Daily Afterior that used aday night. I saw "The Flute of Pan" and heard scarcely any disturbance. One or two people in the gallery made remarks, but the applause drowned their voices altogether, both after the third act and at voices anti-control the end.

There was certainly no "disgraceful attack on Private Box.

Eaton-terrace, S.W.

JAPAN AND THE NORTH SEA INQUIRY.

JAPAN AND THE NORTH SEA INQUIRY.
Though Russia, France, the United States, and Great Britain are to appoint commissioners of inquiry, it is reported that Japan is to be excluded.
Hitherto, in Far Eastern waters, Japan has been more successful in military and fishery matters than Russia, whose Far Eastern Asiatic sea fisheries have long been worked chiefly by the Japanese, a nation which already employs upwards of 3,600,000 persons in her aquatic industries.

J. LAWRENCE-HAMILTON, M.R.C.S.
30, Sussex-square, Brighton.

"IN SAVAGE IRELAND."

"IN SAVAGE IRELAND."

For "A. Tyke's" information I beg to remind him that I made no such statement as he imputes, I did not say that Yorkshire folk were "savages." What I did say was that I met many men in both Lancashire and Yorkshire who were not one-half as civilised or intelligent as the peasantity of Donegal, who were reported under the heading of "In Savage Ireland" as diving like wild animals und hiding themselves in the cliffs on the approach of a white man.

Both civilisation and intelligence are purely matters of degree, but whist candidly admitting that the vast bulk of the inhabitants of Yorkshire are not alone "good, honest folk," but also very intelligent and civilised, when the people of a county equally as honest and intelligent are without any just cause dubbed "savages," I think I was more than justified in comparing a small minority with a good and true-hearted majority.

I CORRICAN.

J. CORRIC Victoria-villas, Morehampton-road, Dublin

"RISE, SIR JOHN."

What It Feels Like To Be Knighted by the Sovereign.

People often wonder what exactly is the ceremony of knighthood. Sir John Robinson's recollections, which we reviewed the other day, give a vivid account of the ceremony. Sir John was knighted at Osborne by Queen Victoria. He had lunch at the house before the ceremony. Then he and his fellow-victims were told what to do. When they entered the room where the Queen was seated they were to bow to her. Then they were to advance, drop one knee on the cushion provided, and wait to be touched by the sword.

the sword.

Next they were to stretch out the right arm lengthwise, and the Queen would put her hand on it to be kissed. When the Queen said, "Rise, Sir"—"they were to walk out of the room—back-Sir —" they were to wans.

wards.

All this Sir John went through.

"My name was called out, and I advanced and howed. I looked for a moment at the Queen. She smiled in quite a friendly way. I kneth on my right knee, and then saw the sword in the air, the blade downwards. She touched me first on the left shoulder, then little di over my head and touched the right shoulder. I then put out my arm. Her hand was a little, round, puffed ball, very red. I then got up and walked backwards to the door."

THE JUDGE'S SECRET.

By Andrew Loring, "Mr. Smith of England."

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ CHAPTER XVI. You Must Not Go. ************

"I knew there was something the matter," cried adv Gascovne, after a significant pause; "you've Lady Gascoyne, after a significant pause; "you've not been yourself for some time. Why didn't you tell me?

There was a catch in her voice as she spoke. Five thousand pounds—the amount stunned her. She had not believed that he must really go until

She had not believed that no mass-control this moment.

"I shouldn't tell you now, Rose," he answered, "only that you wouldn't understand unless I made a clean breast of it. The position is hopeless. By selling up everything I can just about get even. I am forced to accept this appointment. I must leave for West Africa in a fortnight." "Never," she said. "You don't care, Dick," she exclaimed fiercely. "You will have your work, she exclaimed fiercely. "You will have your work, am forced to accept this appointment. I must leave for West Africa in a fortnight."

"Never," she said. "You don't care, Dick," she exclaimed fiercely. "You will have your work, it will help you to forget—but I—"

She flung up her hands in a gesture of despair. She raised them only slightly, it is true, for Lady Gascoyne never forgot herself, never was without the consciousness that she might possibly be observed; but the gesture was not the less expressive for all that to the man who sat by her side. "I don't care," neperated Deverill with sardonic emphasis; "no, of course not." "I don't wnow had to say." "You must be a brave little woman," he said. "Remember, we spoke of my going the night of the fire. We spoke of it afterwards, when neither of us knew that I should really have to go." "We didn't mean it," she cried, lifting her long-lashed eyelids, and looking at him with a pitcous entreaty through tears. "When everything was all right, everything explained to everybody's satisfaction, after that nightmare, what need for you to go? Oh, Dick, I was so happy in coming here to meet you. I laughed as I came along, it seemed to meet you. I laughed as I came along, it seemed to meet you. I laughed as I came along, it seemed to meet you. I laughed as I came along, it seemed to meet you. I laughed as I came along, it seemed to "She looked about, at the brilliant rhododendron blooms gleaming in the distance, at the leaves waving sofdy to and fro in the light breeze, at the sunshine filtering through the trees to draw patterns on the grass—and she shivered. "How did it come about?" she asked suddenly. "Lady Gescovne started, and looked at him out of Lady Gescovne started, and looked at him out of Lady Gescovne started, and looked at him out of the first she was she was thinking of coatly tenners, where I can afford shillings, I drop into speculation."

Lady Gascoyne started, and looked at him out of the corners of her eyes. She was thinking of costly presents which he made her.

"Service chaps—fellows like myself," he continued, "do this every day. Knowing nothing of business, we are had. I'm not blaming anybody except myself. I went into it with my eyes open. A friend told me of a good thing—'a dead cert 'he called it—I had heard of these things before, of course. Oil course, this seemed something special, something different from all the rest. I plunged, I lost; then I went mad. I went into West Africans right and left. I played the fool generally. This is the end."

He picked up the letter from her lap and pointed to it.

Into is the end. He picked up the letter from her lap and pointed to it.

"I've been mad for a year—now I'm sane, and must take my medicine without making a face."

"Dick," said Lady Gascoyne in a choked coice, "the control of the late of the lat

"Motor?"
"Yes, my new one. It's a hundred and fifty miles. My chauffeur says he can do it in four hours. We leave there at three; I have a dinner engagement at eight. Come and see the teuf-teu."
She led the way to the railing and expatiated on the merits of her new 49-h.p. car, and Lady Gascoyne discussed its merits and demerits with the fluency of a trained mechanic. The chsuffeur moved no muscle of his face as he listened to a rigmanole about sparking plugs, carburettors, and cylinders, which conveyed immense, but inaccurate, information.

"I'm glad Hughie Mordaunt had gone," said Lady Gascoyne, as she and Deverill strolled back to their places after watching Lady Chetnole's car disappear through the Stanhope gate. Her lady-ship always felt uncomfortable when she stood face to face with Mordaunt.

"Now, Dick," she said, "I've been thinking all the time that I was talking to the Amazon. You mustn't mind what I am going to say. You gave up your career for me."

"Notso; I resigned before your eyes, your beautiful eyes, Rose, had smiled once on me."

"You always deny it," she said softly. "It is like you to do it, butsh know, Dick, I know."

"And if I did," he answered under his breath, "have I not been a thousand times paid? A glorious year—a year of lotus dreaming, a year that makes the rest of my life seem as nought, whose memories shall console me in my banishment."

whose memories shall console me in my banishment."

"Dick," she said, "I see it all now. You loved me. You wished to show it always in the most exquisite, estrangant way. I loved your presents because they came from you, but a simple pencil-case was the same to me as a jewel or a gem. I have a ring now, you know, the emerald—I love it because you designed the setting—it is like everything you do, perfect; but I have never been able to wear it. I take it out sometimes at night, when I am quite alone, and look into its gleaming heart, and dream of you. But I have never seen a chance to invent a story as to where I got it. It is too beautiful. It is even dangerous for me to keep it in my jewel-case. It has really brought me more care than pleasure—and other things in the same way. Now that I know that you could not afford to lavish these beautiful gifts on me, I—I—hate them."

to lavish these occasions gives them."

"I foresaw this, Rose," he cried hastily, "I was a long time in making up my mind to tell you the truth. I had to do it lest you might think that I am going because I wish to go."

"You were right to tell me, Dick, I thank you for your confidence. I can read everything now. I have cost you, not only your career, but your fortune. I.—" tune. I——"

He interrupted her with eager denials, but she went on talking as though she did not bear.

"I can bear even this knowledge better than that you should have left me without explanations. I should have thought that you had grown tired of me. Anything would be better than that?

Of course he exclaimed violently on the absurdity of such an idea on her part. She felt compelled to remind him to speak more quietly, to remember always that they might be seen. After that, they both forced a smile from time to time, and tried to carry on this conversation, fraught with tragedy to both, as though they spoke the usual idle gossip.

"It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use to deny it," said Lady Gascoyne. "It's no use the first him through life. We women are blind in such things until it is too late. I could have told you long ago, could have told you in, the first hour in which you surprised me into an admission of my love for you "any the told you lone to the told you lone to the said of course." I have never regretted it for one instant—how little I cared for costly proofs of your love. I had your heart. A bunch of sweet-peas would tell me that, just as clearly as a tirar of diamonds. Now, Dieky, you mustn't mind what I am going to say. You shall not go to West Africa. You shall pay this, and something will turn up here for you."

"I know you, Rose, through and through," answered the man. "I foresaw this ently so calmly by his side, around his neck. He could imagine the tearful pleading, the passionate adjurations to which she would have given utterance, if they had been alone together in some secret corner of London secure from interruption. He could see her abandonment to grief, at his refusal to accept her offer.

He told her with a firmness which she feared was final that he could not accept her assistance.

"I am a guilty man enough," he said miserably, "but there are some things that even I cannot descend to."

"I am a guilty man enough," he said miserably, "but there are some things that even I cannot descend to."

"You have nothing to blame yourself for," she whispered. "I loved you—and I yielded. I have told you, over and over again, that I have no regrets. A love such as ours, Dick, overrides everything. After the fire, Alanson tried to give up more time to me. He couldn't, Dick. A Judge is a Judge—and that alone. There are not hours in the day for him to be or do anything else. I do not neglect him. On no, I do not blame myself about him. It is about you. He does not need me, you do. His career absorbs him. I have blindly mined yours. Now you will not let me help you. There is a chance for you in London, Dick. We will find some opening, somehow, somewhere. Perhaps you will not even have to sell the jewels. They call it security, don't they? Surely you'd take them in that way, wouldn't you?"

Is shook his head.
She took the open letter from his hand and glanced once again over it.

"Ellon," she cried, "why that's the moneylender that Gertrude was talking about Elton's daughter, 'half Oriental, laid Methodist."

"I remember,' she said, indifferently.

"Gertrude has seen her since," is econtinued, eagerly. "She was telling Alanson at dinner about it the other day. This girl seems to have come to her about a servant. She told her the most extraordinary things. This girl, that Gertrude describes as a kind of beautiful, animated doll, has been left everything under her father's will, and can do what she likes about anything and everything. Why don't you go to her? Go now. See, here's the address in the lawyer's letter. Fancy, Park Lane—not two hundred yards away. You might be able to do something with her."

"Hopeless," he answered. "You don't understand the way these things are done. She has put it out of her own hands by referring it to her solicitors. She has practically told me that only a complete settlement will be accepted. To go to her after this letter would be to go out of the way to be humilisted. I should n to be humiliated. I should not see her personally, of course. If I did I couldn't appeal to her, to a girl."

"Not for my sake? Dick?"

"I would," he answered, "even that, if there were the slightest chance of success, but there isn't. You see, I have nothing to offer. I had to have money suddenly to carry over two or three accounts, and I got into this Elton's hands in that way. Half of this money is interest. They know to a pound what my property is worth, just how much I am good for. I have reached, that limit. No more renewals—no more concessions. To go and ask a favour of such people is as useless as it is humiliating."

"Your friends, Dick?"

"Impossible. I have nothing to fall back on, Rose; no prospects of paying. No, it is inevitable. I must go away."

Lady Gascoyne looked up suddenly with startled face, then stretched out a quick, furtive hand, and touched his arm. He was silent and listened.

"I wonder if we shall find mamma—won't she surprised?"

The words were uttered in the laughing voice of a little lad, evidently passing on the other side of the tree. Deverill looked inquiringly at his companion, Her face was white, and her lips were twitching.

"If we're lucky, old chap. I don't know that she's driving this afternoon."

Then Deverill understood. Mr. Justice Gascoyne and his little stepson were walking just behind them.

"Won's she be astonished to see me?" cried the boy laughing.

The state of the second were warmen in the men in them in the she is a stonished to see me?" cried the boy laughing glad," answered the Judge, "even if '5melle teglad," and then the two nassed out of hearing.

"I must go," said Lady Gascoyne, faintly. "I must go," said Lady Gascoyne, faintly. "I my hands—and you, going in a forthight—no, no, you, shall not go. Come to dinner to-night. "Ill break my engagements. Perhaps we can have a word. Until then—good-bye,"

Lady Gascoyne turned abruptly and passed through the crowled throng without knowing that she had failed to respond to three salutations. For the first time in her life, events' had proved too much for her ladyship to bear.

She went out into Park-lane, and suddenly awoke to reality when she found herself standing in front of a house, mechanically looking at the number. Impelled by a volition beyond her consciousness, she walked up the steps and rang the bell.

"Can I see Miss Elton?" 'she asked.

Miss Elton was believed to be at home, and the door closed behind her ladyship.

Meanwhile Mr. Richard Deverill had lighted a cigarette, and after five minutes of reflection, which must have been bitter indeed, he stepped out among the crowd. He was almost immediately intercepted by a tall young man, whose face seemed familiar to him.

"Don't you remember me," said the young man to him.

"Don't you remember me," said the young man hurriedly. "My name is Skerrett. I have just sart you a line. I regret to tell you that your connection, Mr. Brasser, is dead."

(To be continued.)

Are You Insured Against All Casualties?

If Not, Why Not?

You can now obtain a Policy indemnifying you Against

ANY AND EVERY SICKNESS

(not a limited number of diseases only)

ACCIDENTS OF ALL KINDS.

NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION REQUIRED.

Write for Prospectus and Terms of Agency.

The Casualty

Insurance Company, Limited, F. J. LEE-SMITH, Managing Director, 123, PALL-MALL, LONDON, S.W.

DO IT NOW. Typewriters.

Call and Inspect Stock. COSMOS TYPEWRITER SUPPLIES Co., 73a, Queen Victoria St., London

THE CHARING CROSS BANK.

119 and 120, Bishopsgatest, Within, E.C. and 28, Bedfordet, Oharing Gross Wo, Surplus States, 2697,90. Labilities, 2266,80. Surplus States, 2267,90. Labilities, 2267,90.

GARDENING.

PRIZE-WINNING Roses, choicest, named, 5s. dozen; free; flustrated catalogue gratis.—Morris, F.R.H.S., Ashleyst, Birmingham.

330 GUARANTEED Bulbs, 17 varieties, 5s., free.

100 ASSONTED BULIS FOR 1s.—25 Hyacinths, 70 Hyacinths, 70

HIS MAJESTY'S IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT,

PIQUE-RESULT, LIFE-LONG REPENTANCE. MARRIAGES MADE TO SATISFY

REVENGE IS SWEET.

LUI THE SATISFACTION THEREOF SOON FADES.

"Biting off one's nose to spite one's face" is a homely and a vulgar saying, but if it may be with justice applied to any action it is to that of the girl who marries out of pique.

At the first blush pique seems too extraordinary a motive to urge anyone into matrimony But it is a melancholy fact that many marriages are due to it. When the lottery draws a mere blank, no one need be in the least surprised. Surprise would be suitable if such were not the case.

Her Miserable Resources.

Her Miserable Resources.

Grace, let us say, has a liking for Jack. It seems as if he reciprocated it. But one day they have a quarrel—one of those differences that seem so unspeakably trivial when one tries to describe them either by word of mouth or on paper, but which are so full of import to those whose lives they affect. They part, and Grace is possessed by one burning desire—to show Jack, the erring, how little she cares.

It appears to her that by no possible means can she so clearly convey this to him as by flaunting a lussband in his face. She has no particular affection for George, but he will do as well as another to marry from pique. Jack shall not suppose she cares a fig for his defalcation; he is less than nolling to her, and she will let him see that such is the case.

To achieve this leuchble and decirchle and and in the second of the secon happiness.

Marriage that is extered into to satisfy pique cannot be called the marriage of true minds. Its foundation is in selfishness and pride and petty resembent, and a dozen other contemptible things. How can a love that is fine and pure and noble be built upon such a low stratum of material?

A Romance in Which She Gloats.

A Romance in Which She Gloats.

Grace marries George. And she may enjoy a moment of meagre satisfaction when she sees Jack's face when she announces the news of the wedding, or hears his remarks. Is that paltry and unworthy satisfaction going to repay her for days and weeks and years of distate and boredom, tied to a man she would never have married for his own sake? Within so many weeks, or months, or even years, Jack will have quite consoled himself for the slight Grace has put upon him. He will have married a girl who, he congratulates himself, is a much more suitable wife for him than Grace ever would have made. And if he thinks of her at all it is with compassion as George's wife; while for George he will be full of sincerest compassion, too.

Punishment for the Innocent.

As for poor George, who probably deserved a far better fate than to be Grace's husband, his lot is most assuredly extremely hard. He finds soon enough that Grace did not care for him, and that he has tied himself to a girl capable of selfishly wrecking his interests in the desire to feed her own complacency. It is not likely to endear his wife to him to know that he has merely been used by her as a foil to wex and annow lack.

him to know that he has merely been used by her as a foil to vex and annoy Jack.

To marry for pique! How soon pique dies! When Grace has been a year married she will look back with wonder on the strength of the feeling that urged her to secure the annoyance and mortification of Jack at any cost, and justly set hersell down as being a fool. It seemed a fine thing no doubt, when the longing was on her, to do something that should sting him to the saves half the labour of washing and wear on clothes, if you go by the book; not otherwise.

Fels-Naptha

Go by the book.

· Fels-Naptha 39 Wilson street London E C

PEARLS 2/6 PEARLS

Send P.O. for 2/6 and we will mail you, POST FREE, one of our very handsome GENUINE ROUMANIAN PEARL NECKLETS with Parisian Paste Clasp.

ROUMANIAN PEARL CO., 48, Haymarket, London, S.W.

quick. Now she dully wonders what could have induced her to want it.

She even goes further, and honestly admits to herself that she has wrecked her life for a moment's satisfaction. Going over her quarrel with Jack-the quarrel that resulted in so much—she reproaches herself severely, for she sees that she will endeavour, even at the eleventh hour, to make his life a little happier.

SEAWEED EMBROIDERY.

Seaweed embroidery is not only effective but is pleasant to work, affording an opportunity as it does for much dexterity in the blending of colours,

An uncommon-looking d'oyley embrei-dered with seawood sprays, was in the wrong, and that a gentle word from her would have set all right. What can she do now? Northing for herself, nothing for Jack, who wants nothing; but something for lack, who wants nothing; but something for her husband. For if she he really repentant she will see how monstrously unfair it is that he should suffer, and table decorated with chrysanthenuums, for the white or grey-green of the doyleys, with touches of apper here and there, look specially decorative with thrysanthernums that emphasise these rich colours.

The edge of this pattern suggests shells by means of its colouring of pink and copper.

The favourite model of the great Hungarian artist, Munkaesy, has now settled down to keep an inceream shop in Portobello, near Glasgow. For fourteen years he kept the artist's studio, outside Pavis, and sat to him in various guises.

EVENING CLOAKS.

CALLED COATS, BUT MORE LIKE CAPES.

Evening coats have ceased to be luxuries. They have proved so thoroughly satisfactory in a score of unexpected ways that now one-or more-is sure to be found in every well-dressed woman's wardrobe. So far this year there is only one material that seems to be a favourite for making them, and that is fine cloth. But they are more trimmed than they were a year ago with lace and velvet, buttons and fur. The favourite measurement is three-and fur. The favourite measurement is three-quarter length and longer.

More like cloaks than actual coats are these wraps, though as the sleeves in most cases are sharply defined, they are entitled coats. Loose they must be, and broad and full, large enough to slip on over any type of gown, from velvet to chiffon, without crushing it, yet the lines must be graceful. Coats like these are quite easy for the home dressmaker to achieve, for there is no fit in them anywhere.

Colours for Young Girls.

For the very young girl there is nothing so appropriate as white in any one of its shades from chalk to the cream tints that almost deepen into chalk to the cream unts that many champagne.

But colours are to be worn this winter more than they have been for years, preferably in the soft pale-shades that are so exquisitely lovely in fine cloth. Champagne, biscuit, and leather are three favourite shades. Dark evening coats are a boon to women who travel by train or omnibus to the theatre, or perhaps walk to a party at a neighbour's house, and dislike the conspicuousness of a wrap that is too light.

and dislike the conspicuousness of a wrap that is too light.

There are a hundred ways of making these coats—from the most severely-simple tailor-made one, and even that is trimmed, to the one all fluffy with lace and ruffles. Some have deep collars-made of a succession of graduated capes, with a flat collar of fur at the top. Loose sleeves are necessary and very picturesque.

Marvellous The Difference that comes with proper food.

Grape=Nuts

Get the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each packet.

INSTANTLY BEAUTIFIES THE COMPLEXION

THE PERALIA PERFUMERY Camden St. (Jept. D.M.) North S

ARE YOU LITTLE?

How to Establish The Home.

If you contemplate starting a home you should send without delay for the Hackney Furnishing Co.'s a handsomely illustrated volume. A special section on the FURNISHING OF A VILLA, dealing with all the details of each room. POST FREE.

GUIDE AND CATALOGUE,

HACKNEY

FURNISHING CO., LTD.

MODEL INSTALMENT SYSTEM. GENERAL TERMS.

DEPOSIT REQUIRED.

10. per cent. discount for cash.
Carpats and Lines planned and laid free. 2500
FREE LIFE INSURANCE.

N.B.—We carry out our advertised terms and offers.

UNFURNISHED FLATS

NINE LARGE SHOPS, NEXT EACH OTHER, SIDE OF TOWN HALL. PLEASE NOTE NAME, Hackney Furnishing Co., Ltd.

on all doors and windows before entering.

DO NOT BE MISLED.—Cheeve our address, 1, 2, 3, 4 from Hullbondings, and 18, 19, 20, 21, and 22. The Grove, adjoining. Hours 9 till 10. Thursdays close 4. Telegrams, "Furniments, London." Telephone, 34, Dalston.

PLASE. NOTE.

PLEASE NOTE, - Always open on Saturdays COUNTRY ORDERS packed, carriage paid, and delivered to your door free.

A Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint.

The Best Cure for INDIGESTION. WIND, NERVOUS DEPRESSION, GIDDINESS and LOSS of APPETITE

The Safest Family Medicine

BRONCHITIS

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' EVIDENCE.

SKUSE'S HERBAL GOUGH MIXTURE

IS THE INCOMPARABLE CURE FOR COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and PULMONA Y TROUBLES.

The finest Medicine in the World for Children, being of a pleasant, soothing nature, gives the little patients the comfort of a night's rest and refreshing sleep.

IN POTTLES 71d., 1/11, & 2/9, FROM Stores, & Chemists, EVERYWHERE

THE BEST WINTER SWEET.

SHUSE'S HERBAL TABLETS

Boots' Drug Stores, International Peasitores, Chemista & Confectioners.

PLUM PUDDINGS

Sent to us at once will bring Sample Pudding, Cream, and some St. Ivel Novelties and three Coupons for the Prize Contest, Puddings and Cream worth more.

£100 in Cash Prizes extra.

Taste now, you won't bother to make for Xmas, but will buy "St. Ivel" of your Grocer.

Address Q. Dept. Aplin & Barrett, &c., Ltd., Yeovil. Name this paper.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

YOU will not have far to go before finding a friend, acquaintance, or neighbour who can tell you from personal experience that BEECHAM'S PILLS are the most efficacious medicine yet known for the cure of all forms of Indigestion, Billous Disorders, Sick Headache, Poorness of Blood, Nervous Debility, and General Want of Tone.

Such unquestionable testimony can be obtained by almost anyone anywhere. Those who have taken BEECHAM'S PILLS have realised the immense benefits derived from their use, and have recommended them to their friends.

But, notwithstanding the gigantic sale of over SIX MILLION BOXES PER ANNUM, there are still thousands of sufferers who are spoiling their lives, and possibly ruining their health, with experiments, while the old-established remedy, BEECHAM'S PILLS, still remains untried.

Sold everywhere in Boxes, Price Is. Ild. (56 Pills) and 2s. 9d. (168 Pills).

ON SALE TO-DAY.

THE XMAS

" MAGAZINE. Price Sixpence.

At all Newsvendors, if not sold out.

ENO'S LIGHTNING COUGH CURE

RONCHITIS AND ASTHMA

Veno's Lightning Cough Cure Produces its most brilliant effect in Bronchitt Rev. W. W. TULLOCH, D.D., Bor Cutherlandchire, writes; "July 22nd, 'e

HILDREN'S ADA S. BALLIN, 5. Agar St. n, Editor "Womanhood," and a authority upon children's diseases, LARGE TRIAL 91d. Regular Sizes, BOTTLES 1/12 & 2/9.

Ask for Veno's Lightning Cough Cure at Chemist and Drug Stores everywhere.

CRAWCOUR HOUSE

FURNISHER,

Cash and Credit. FSTARLISHED 1810.

ALL THE QUALITY, HALF THE USUAL West End PRICES.

MONTHLY OR QUARTERLY PAYMENTS

CRAWCOUR & CO. 176, Tottenham Court Rd., London, W.

While They Last

USEFUL PRESENT.

upply Stores, Co His Majesty

POPULAR OWNER'S DOUBLE EVENT.

Chapeau and Barbecue Win Two Races in the Rothschild Colours.

DERBY CUP BETTING.

Long before the hour set for racing at Leicester yesterday the sun had dispersed the fog and a fine, bright afternoon was enjoyed at Oadby. There was some very interesting sport, and the attendance reached satisfactory figures.

The Oadby Nursery was reckoned a good thing for the Lincoln winner, St. Langton, and the odds of 2 to 1 laid on him were never in danger, as the youngster led from end to end. He won by half a length from Lador, on whom Sharples seemed to have unduly delayed his final effort.

It seemed likely that Elsey's stable would also supply the winner of the Quorndon Handicap in the penalised Catty Crag, and this candidate was backed at very short rates. Honours was also supported, but there was really little doing in the market. The race was won in very easy style by Chapeau in Mr. L. de Rothschild's colours.

Chapeau's fortunes have been peculiar. Bought early in the season to act as schoolmaster to the Rothschild two-year-olds, he was lately sent to accomony St. Amant in his disciplinary course over hurdles at Cannon's place at Chattis Hill. The change of air from Newmarket to Hampshire, and the mixed exercise, seem to have agreed with Chapeau. He looked fresh and well and won in a Chapeau is a promising novice at hurdle exercise, and it is intended that he shall race under National Hunt rules, but, of course, there is no intention of sending St. Amant out as a jumper. His schooling is, a mere matter of discipline.

Barbecue had no credentials to commend him for the Town Plate, but he followed up Chapeau's score by readily winning from The Shah, Ægis, and ten others of moderate quality. Barbecue has a tube in the throat, and an index to his temper was seen in the blinkers which adorned him. He could not elicit a bid when put up to auction at Liverpoof, and was now sold to Mr. Muddimer for 50 guineas. Sacristy filly, although among the beaten division, realised 60 guineas.

Thoas won the Atherstone Plate. This horse had been absent from a racecourse since August last, when he finished last of five runners in the Castle Handicap, and his only previous victory under the Jockey Club rules this year was in April at Derby, when he beat Sir Laddo by a head.

Now the popular fancy was Longford Lad, who had previously shown a partiality for the switch-back course, but he did not run prominently. Bonny Rosila, in failing here, prevented W. E. Elsey from sending out his eightieth winner this Bookmakers again had the best of the deals in the November Auction Nursery, as the extreme outsider, Mr. W. G. Stevens's colt by Bentworth—Ballerine, won by three lengths from the favourite, St. Hilary, and was bought in for 250 guineas. And in the Melton Plate American Boy beat the more-fancied lot in Vidame, Valve, Phylloxera, and Royal Winkfield.

During the intervals of settling over last week's heavy account, the Derby Gold Cup was introduced into the wagering at the London clubs, but the business transacted only represented public fancies. Donnetta was installed favourite at 500 to 60 taken, then shortening odds down to six to one were accepted about this filly, who ran well in the Cambridgeshire. After longer prices had been laid, a quartette of candidates closed at ten to one, these being General Cronje, Melayr, Laveuse, and Santry, the last two of whom are trained by Greusil at Whatcombe and belong to Alord Carnarvon.

SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

LEICESTER -Humberstone Plate-BARBECUE.
-Harborough Handicap-LIVIA.
-Apelhorpe Nursery-GIVEN AWAY.
-Leicestershire November Handicap-ST. JOIE.
-Clock Tower Handicap-BARON CRAFTON.
-Regulation Plate-PERSIL.

SPECIAL SELECTION.

ST. JOIE. GREY FRIARS.

THE TWO BEST THINGS.

"The Squire's" double for Leicester to-day is as Apethorpe Nursery.-GIVEN AWAY. Regulation Plate,-PERSIL.

RACING RETURNS.

LEICESTER.—MONDAY.

1.30.—OADBY NURRERY HANDIOAP of 100 sors, for Mr. F. Indepondent of the first including the commitment of the commitme LEICESTER.-MONDAY

Mr. F. Langton's DUMPS, 4yrs, 7st 11b.

Mr. F. Langton's CATTY CRACA, 4yrs, 9st 100.

Allo, 7st Very Catter Crack, 1978, 9st 2010.

Allo, 7st Very Crack, 1978, 9st 21b), Addlestone (3yrs, 5st 11b), 4st (5yrs, 1978, 10b), Attocking 1979, 5st 21b), Attocking 1979, 5st 21b), Attocking 1979, 5st 21b), Attocking 1979, 5st 21b), Monthson 1979, 5st 21 and the Sacristy filly to Mr. Escott for by guiness.

3.0.—NOVEMBER AUCTION NURSERY HANDICAP of 200 sovs, for two-year-olds; winner to be sold for 50 sovs.

Five furlongs, straight.

Mr. W. G. Stevens's C by BENTWORTH—BALLERINE.

Randall 1

Alor ran; Destrict 63: 61b; VORVIETU—IVERAGH, 74:71b;
Alor ran; Destre (63: 61b; Vita; 723: 143b; Madden Kirk Deighton (74: 41b; More Trouble (74: 81b; Koold
(74: 21b); Smits illy (74: 11b); Unit (74: 11b), Azores (74: 41b)
Cross Park (64: 131b); Luke Delmage (74: 11b), Tathwe Lassie filly (74: 11b); Ethedreda (73:, Popolly (64: 13b)
Delcomona filly
The description of the control of the contro and third. The winner was bought in for 250 guines.

3.50.—ATHERISTONE PLATE (Handlesp) of 260 guines.

5.50.—ATHERISTONE PLATE (Handlesp) of 260 guines.

Captain P. Herbert, "HIOAS, by Buckenham, Amphitute, 67;s. 7tt 1310.

1. Herbert, "HIOAS, by Buckenham, Amphitute, 67;s. 7tt 1310.

1. Herbert, "HIOAS, by Buckenham, Amphitute, 67;s. 7tt 1310.

1. Herbert, "HIOAS, by Buckenham, Amphitute, 67;s. 7tt 1310.

1. Herbert, "HIOAS, Buckenham, Amphitute, 130;s. 130

(STE, 7st.). (Winner trained by Cort.)

Betting—9 to 2 agst Longford Lad, 7 to 1 each Benny Rosila. Wild Jakarn, and Belie Savila. 8 to 1 each Benny Whinbloom, and Tamasha, 10 to 1 St., Enogat, 100 to 8 any other. Won by half a length; a length and a linit between the second and blittle.

between the second and uture.

4.0.—MELTON PLATE of 103 sovs. One mile, straight,
Mr. R. Croker's AMERICAN BOY, by Americus—Saucy
Lass, 5yrs, 8st 7lb.
Mr. P. Aloxander's PART MALT, 4yrs, 8st 7lb... Thompson
Mr. W. M. G. Singer's PHYLLOXERA, 5yrs, 8st Madden ar. W. M. G. Singer's PHYLLOXEBA, 5 prs. 5st 7th.

Also ran: Vidamo (5prs. 5st 7th), Valve (4prs. 5st 7th), Charmas (3prs. 5st 4th), Royal Williams, 5st 7th),

Betting—2 to 1 aget Vidamo, 5 to 2 Valve, 4 to 1 Phylloxera, 7 to 1 Royal Winkfield, 100 to 14 American Box, length; from lungths separated the second and third.

LATEST LONDON BETTING.

ARMY CUP DRAW.

The committee of the Army Association met yesterday afternoon at Wellington Barracks. It was announced that the R.M.A. ground at Eastney had been closed for a month, owing to the behaviour of the spectators at recent football matches there.

The draw for the second round of the Cup was made as follows:—

The draw for the second round of the Cup was made as follows:—
The draw for the second round of the Cup was made as follows:—
Addershot District.—2nd Royal Scots Fusiliers or Srd Grenadier Guards v. R.A.M. Corps; 2nd Scots Guards v. 1st Royal Welsh Fusiliers; 2nd East Yorkshire Regiment or Srd Scots Guards v. Army Service Corps; 1st March 1988 of the State of the Sta

UNFORTUNATE CANTABS.

Reading's Victory at Southampton - Manchester City Defeat Wolves.

Many years have clapsed since the Cantals' Rugby fifteen have had such a disastrons season. Previous to yesteday, when the Edinburgh Academicals were met, of the cight matches decided, Cambridge had lost half the games, the only sides of importance they had consume the control of the contro

Manchester City in a measure atoned for their defeat at the hands of the Rovers at Blackburn on Saturday by defeating the Wanderers from Wolverhampton by 5 to 1. The Spurs showed that their return to form the Spurs showed that their return to form the Western League. In the same competition Queen's Park Rangers decisively defeated Portsmouth. Bristol Rovers proved far too good for West Ham, and Reading accomplished the best performance of the day by defeating the Saints at Sauthampton.

The match at Craven Cottage yesterday between Fulham and Tottenham, although insi, was somewhat colour less, but not devoid of exciting episodes now and again. No goals were scored, and both sides were content to let it stand at that. Although fine and clear overhead, the turf was a bit slippery underfoot, placing well for the visitors, who introduced a new player at right half in George, who was last season with Kettering.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

ASSOCIATION.

THE LEAGUE,-Division I.

MANCHESTER CITY, 5; WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS, 1.

At Manchester, in beautiful weather and before 10,000 spectators. On the home side Norgrove and Bannister took the places of McMahon and Turnbull, and the "Wolves" had a reorganised team. The City had the best of matters in the first half. Meredith, charging the goalkeeper into net, scored twenty-seven minites wards, and at the "interval Manchester City led by 2 goals to none.

In the second half both sides played ten men. The game had only been in progress four minutes when Smith foulded Gillespie within the penalty area, and both sides to the control of the second half both sides played ten men. The game had only been in progress four minutes when Smith foulded Gillespie within the penalty area, and low shot added a fourth, and Gillespie shot a fifth. Just on time Hopkins scored for the "Wolves," who were well beaten by 5 goals to 1 goal.

WESTERN LEAGUE.

FULHAM, 0; TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR, 0.

FULHAM, 0; ROTLENHAM HOTSPUR, 0.
Played at Fulham in nice weather, and before about four thousand people. Fulham were without Soar and Wardrope, and the Hotspur without Hughes and Morris. The game was fast and interesting all through, the defences on both sides being excellent.
Fulham had rather the best of the first half, but nothing was scored. Subsequently a fine game was seen. Fulham played splendfally, but without luck, and a capital match ended in a pointless draw.

QUEEN'S PARK RANGERS, 6; PORTSMOUTH, 1

QUEEN'S PARK RANGERS, 6; PORTSMOUTH, 1. Played at Park Royal in fine weather, before 2,000 spectators. Portsmouth had the same side that lost to the Corinthians, and attacked strongly, but Howes saved splendidly, and Bevan and Ryder scored for the Rangers. The grass was wet another ball very silppery.

In the second half Ronaldson added two goals. Porteous then scored for Portsmouth, but before the finish Ronaldson and Stewart obtained points for Queen's Park Rangers, who won easily by 6 goals to 1 goal.

SOUTHAMPTON, 0; READING, 1.

SOUTHAMPTON, 6; READING, 1.

At Southampton, before 3,000 speciators, in fine methods of the southampton had Hedley and Lee away, and Reading H. Smith and Bevan. Play was in the Saint's favour, and Naisby saved well. Reading, however, with a good shot. The visitors led up to the interval.

In the second half Benson retired hurt, and Southampton played one back. Reading followed suit. Both goalkeepers awed amarby, but Rending kept shead to the end, and won by a goal to nothing.

BRISTOL ROVERS, 5; WEST HAM, 1 At Bristol. ROVERES, 5; WEST HAM, I.
At Bristol, before 1,500 spectators. Neither team was quite at full strength, but a capital game was winessed.
Ide at the interval by 3 to nil. Rovers, who descredly
Ide at the interval by 3 to nil. Rovers, who descredly but the shooting was weak; though Fletcher scored.
Smith (3) and Tait were the scorers for Bristol in the second half. The Rovers thus won by 5 goals to I goal.

OTHER MATCH.

BRIGHTON AND HOVE ALBION, 1; STOKE, 3. BRIGHTON AND HOVE ALBION, 1; STOKE, 3. This friendly game did not attract a very large crowd at Brighton yesterday. Stoke only made one change from the team which suffered defects at Plumstand on Saturday, had rather a mixed team, but they played well, the defence being particularly brilliant. Hall scored for Stoke the only goal of the first half. Livingstone equalisted early in the second half. Hall put Stoke ahead, and Gallmore put on a third goal, Stoke winning by 2 goals to 1 goal.

RUGBY.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY, 6; EDINBURGH ACADEMICALS, 6 pts.
At Cambridge. The weather was fair, but the attendance was only moderate. Just siter starting J. E. Crabble made an opening, and P. M. Murray scored an un-verted try for Edinburgh. Even play followed to the interval.

After changing ends J. E. Crabbie again made an opening, and Anderson gained another try for the Academicals, who more than once got dangerous again. Cambridge looked like scoring just before the finish, but were forced back, and the game ended in a win for the Scots by 2 tries (6 pts.) to 0.

PLYMOUTH, 5 pts.; SWANSEA, 21 pts. At Plymouth in brilliant weather, before 6,000 spectators. Amold was absent from the Swanses side, Jowet going on the wing, and Trew to centre. Trew scored verting two of the tries.

Davies goaled a further try by Rees and missed one by Gordon. Conybears got Plymouth's try, Lillicrag goaling. Plymouth were beaten by superior tactics, Swansea winning by three goals and two tries to a goal.

TO-DAY'S RACING PROGRAMME.

LEICESTER. 1.15-HUMBERSTONE SELLING PLATE of 100 sovs: winner to be sold for 50 sovs. One mile, straight.

yrs st lb	ALE	st 1b
Young Neville a 10 2	aBarbecue 2	8 0
aSt. Noel a 10 2	aAcock's Green 2
aAriosto 4 10 2	aAcceptance 2	7 11
aCountry Bumpkin 4 9 13	algraine 2	7 11
a Horomo Bumpain 4 3 13	algianic a	7 11
aHarama 5 9 13 aWild Aster 3 9 7	aFloretta 2	7 11
aWild Aster 3 9 7	aLa Sortija 2	7 11
aLove Game 3 9 7	aThe Shah 2	7 11
aMon Ange 3 9 7	3Overwise 2	7 11
1.45-HARBOROUGH H.	ANDICAP of 100 sovs	Five
L.Tel furlo	ongs.
yrs st lb	yr:	s at 1b
Livia 3 9 0	a Epping Green 4	7 7
a Silent Friend 6 9 0	a Miss Blucher 3
a St. Walston 4 8 10	a Billet Doux 3
	a Bine Doux
Frequent 3 8 10	Lady Falsestep 5	7 4
a Kibrit 3 8 8	Bastion 3	7 3
Early Bird 4 8 8	Lady Beth 4	. 7 3
Early Bird 4 8 8 a Royal River 6 8 3	Coster 3	7 2
Spoilt Girl 3 8 3	a Harama 6	7 2
Separation 6 8 2	a Dumps 4
Hercules 6 7 12	o Coopeins	7 0
Hercules 6 7 12	a Georgius 3 Lady Jummy c 3	6 12
Tickets 4 7 12	Lany Jummy C 3	0 12
Chant 5 7 11	a Rayon d'Or 3	6 11
Hillwood 5 7 11	All Joy 5	6 10

2.15 APETHORPE SELLING NURSERY HANDI CAP of 100 sovs, for two-year-olds; winner to be atie c		0	a Vim	7 1

nnie Earl	8	9
ve Slave	8	9	a Lovelette g	7 1
ight Eyes	8	8	Specula f	7 1.
oncellita f	8	6	Gold Hackle f	1 70
aparture g	8	6	a Lady of the Manor f	7 10
old Paint	8	5	Toque	7
menia	8	4	a Luke Delmage	7
andro	8	4	Man of Means	7
ven Away	8	3	Simon's Lass	7
r Francis	8	3	Abington	1
rewmouse a	8	1	Captive	7
rawberry Hill g	8	1	Chaddlesworth	Z !
ip Up	7	13	a Dulcemona f	4
atherine B	. 7	13	Merry Page	1. 6
APER SELECTION	JA -	-To	ckey-Simenia, Chilton's
enarture golding F	2ace	ahor	se-Shrew Mouse colt. R	acin rid-Tovelette goldi	ng	OF	Vim.

2.45 LEICESTERSHIRE NOVEMBER HANDIC PLATE of 300 sovs. One mile and a quarte Pitch Battle Coxcomb

a St. Enogat
Proffer Lely
St. Joie
Miss Toto
St. Primus
Queen of the Lassies
Fireman
Lady Dundas Sansovino
Happy Slave
Sun Rose
Given Up
Scotch Cherry a Given Up
Scotch Cherry
Vincula
aBonny Rosila
St. Moritz

PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—Pitch Battle of the Lassies. Chilton's Guide—St. Primus. R Longford Lad. Gale's Special—Cottager or Scott Racing World—Pitch Battle or Longford Lad. Wir

Valve 4 9 6 a Chilmark 3 7
Valve 4 9 6 a Chilmark 3 7	0.
Valve 4 9 6 a Chilmark 3 7
	1
	5
Vidame 6 9 1 College Queen 6 7	6
Catty Crag 4 8 12 Zam 4 7	k
	8
	3
	ď
	1
Ovid 4 7 11 Monkshead 5 6.	1

Lesue Catter ... 4 7 5 1
PAPER SELECTIONS. Jockey-Peter's Pride, Chilton's
Guide-College Queen or Fleeting Love. Racehorse-Catty
Crag. Gale's Special-Baron Crafton. Racing Werld-Baron
Crafton or Catty Crag. Winning Post-Baron Crafton.

lue Streak.....

3 45-REGULATION PLATE of 103 soys. One mile

	yrs st 1b	yrs st 1
Jason	4 9 4	a Honours 3 8
John M.P	5 9 1	Mintagon 3 8
Quilla	5 9 1	a Lucid 3 8
Atrocious	5 9 1	Ravilious 3 8
Kirkoswald	5 8 13	Park Ranger 3 8
Charmus		St. Primus 3 8
		Wickham 3 8
Gallant Blue		Ecosse 3 8
Neyland
Arlon	. 4 8 10	Simonetti 3 8
Persil	. 3 8 9
DANIER OFFE	MICHAEL TO	okey Toson Chilton's Guide-

PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—Jason, Chilton's Guide—Simonetti, Racehorse—Persil, Racing World—Persil or Park Ranger.

POINTERS FROM THE BOOK.

Humberstone Plate.—BARBECUE—ACOCK'S GREEN, Harborough Handicap.—LIVIA—SILENT FRIEND. Agethorpe Nursey.—LOVE SLAVE—SIMENIA. November Handicap.—COTTACER.—HARRY MEL-CLO.—COTTACER.—HARRY MEL-CLO.—COTTACER.—HARRY MEL-CLO.—COTTACER.—HARRY MEL-GREGULATION FLATE.—JASON.—PERSIL.

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

All engagements in Sir E. Cassel's name,—Acceptance, Duke Royal. All engagements—Manifesio, Soldier. All engagements this rear.—Minkfold's Charm. All engagements this year.—All Mr. Fairie's horses, All published handicaps.—Noble Lad.

Frank Bedingfield, an old Portsmouth and Queen's Park Rangers centre forward, who went to South Africa a few years ago for the benefit of his health, has recently died. He suffered from consumption, and left England in search of a cure, but, like George Lohanan, the famous Surrey cricketer, it was a fruitless jumey, although his life was doubtless prolonged.

TRAIN THE YOUNG IDEA.

London's Vast Recruiting Fields Neglected by Professional Football Clubs.

A HINT TO CLUB MANAGERS.

In some of his notes on junior football in the columns In some of his notes on jumor lootball in the columns of the Daily Mirror "Dominie" has expressed himself as surprised at the lack of initiative displayed by the managers of the big southern professional clubs, and particularly those in the vicinity of London, in not picking up young players from their midst, and training them themselves, instead of procuring them ready-made from the North and Midlands, and even Scotland, Ireland, and Weles.

The reason is not far is seek. Professional football is:

land, and Wales.

- The reason is not far to seek. Professional football is of comparatively recent growth in the South, and most of the manager of Southern League clubs, certainly all the Loadon clubs with the exception of West Ham, are Northern gentlemen, with strong Northern sympathies, and a knowledge of Northern football only when they came to team.

came to town.

Their work for the club has of necessity kept them away from the junior game, and they are for the most part ignorant of what is going on around them. It is oully by hearsay that they learn of a good player, and when told, as often as not they have no possible chance of seeing him themselves.

How the London Boy is Spoilt.

How the London Boy is Spoilt.

In Loadon the youngsters at the elementary schools are superior to any in the kingdom. A representative London side has never been beaten. A representative London folces not, and cannot, keep his training up when he leaves school. He goes, for the most part, to a City office, warehouse, or workshop. He has no parch of during his meal times, and he text of control about the sum of the control and the control and the sum of the control and the c Londoners in the North.

We have had instances of London players going North and doing well for themselves. There are the cases of Sugden and Shearman of Nottingham Forest, Frost of Manchester City, Bevan, now with the Rangers, and scores of others. Frost, in particular, is now the most noted half-back in the League, and he belonged to the Milkeall reserve, team noted half-back in the League, and he belonged to the Millwall reserve team. West Ham and Millwall have adopted these tactics. Speaking from memory, West Ham have turned out Mapley— and promising back, now informately suffer forward, and one or two others. Millwall have had Bevan, Frost, R. Jones—who is still playing for them—and several others, but even these instances have been, for the most part, the result of accident. The content of the most part, the result of accident and Hackney I contend that such places at Tottenham and Hackney I contend that such places at Tottenham and the thousand and one County Council pitches, waste lands, and private fields are, year after year, turning out enough footballers to keep our Southern Cubs going and to send a very fair percentage to the North.

The experiment is worth trying, and I would commend to the notice of such shread business men as ohn Camerov of the 'Spurs, to a judge of a player like 'Bob' 'Hunter of Milwall, to Harry Bradshaw of Yulham, to Mr. Philip Kelso of Woolwich. Arsenal, to Mr. R. Molyneus of Srentford, to Mr. Wood of Queen's 'Park Rangers, and to my numerous friends in the other bouthern League clubs. Players are made, not born, all there is no farer recruiting ground than the open

COUNTY HOCKEY MATCH.

arrey and Middleser, the oldest hockey-playing nites, will meet to-morrow at Bushey Park, Tedding-The following will represent Middlesex—
Edgell (Teddington), goal; H. S. Freeman (Staines)
Edgell (Teddington), goal; H. S. Freeman (Staines)
O, F. W. Orr Hampstend), and C. Rajec Scotth, goal of the stainest the stainest of the stainest the sta REMARKABLE GOLF AT ST. ANDREWS.

Miss Luttle Dod, of Moreton, who won the British addies, Golf Chamipionship at Toron laxt May, played Golf Chamipionship at Toron laxt May, played Golf, Miss Dod, partnered by Mi. Devereux, played gainst Muss Griscom and Mr. W. J. Travis, the British Miss Griscom and Mr. W. J. Travis, the British Miss Griscom and Mr. W. J. Travis, the British Miss Chamipion The latter won by 6 up and 5 to play the Miss Chamipion of the Miss Chamipion of FIRE IN A TREE TRUNK.

Owls and Bats Scared Out of Their Daylight Hiding Places.

A fire of an unusual nature occurred yesterday at Eltham.

Some children were playing in the hollow trunk of a massive tree situated on the Corbetts Estate portion of the Eltham Fark, when one of them struck a match and threw it amongst the dry struck a match and threw it amongst the dry-leaves.

Immediately there was an unexpected burst of flame, and the interior of the tree was soon well alight, the children narrowly escaping being burnt. One curious effect was that several owls and bats were dislodged, and for some minutes they flew aimlessly about their old home.

Fully 30ft, of the interior of the trunk was burned or that the tree will exceed like a cheetern sun-out, but the tree still stands, like a skeleton, su ported mainly by its bark, which escaped the fire

ARSENAL'S NEW CENTRE.

Alfred Crowe, Woolwich Arsenal's new centre forward, is only twenty-one years of age. He was born in North Woolwich in 1883. He has acquired all his football within a stone's throw of the Arsenal's ground, and is therefore one of those rarieties of southern professional football—a local player.

SPORTING NEWS ITEMS.

T. Wildgoose, of Hyde, the international water polo player, is lying seriously ill of typhoid. Sagar played magnificently for Bury last Saturday, scoring no fewer than four goals for his side.

The annual report of the Hampshire County Cricket Club shows that Webb's benefit realised a sum of £125 3s. 10d.

Lowestoft I.O.G.T. have now played five matches, of which they have won four and drawn one. Their goal record is 21 for and 6 against.

Colchester Crown are the only unbeaten team in the South-East Anglian League; Ipswich (the holders) have a lot of leeway to way up with two defeats.

During the match between Newquay and Penzance at Newquay, A. Beckerleg, a Penzance player and a mem-ber of the county team, had a leg fractured. It is estimated that the nine matches in the First Division of the League on Saturday were witnessed by an aggregate attendance of about 110,000 spectators.

Prior to Stunday, when Whitaker obtained a try for-the Camp Hill Old Edwardians, the Stratford-on-Avon Rugby Club's line had not been crossed this season. Alderman Brightmore, chairman of the Doncaster Race Committee, died at his residence on Stunday night. He had been suffering for some time from a disease of the liver.

Owing to the scarcity of first-class jockeys in the United States, several American sportsmen will appeal to the authorities of the English Jockey Club begging them to reinstate Tod Sloan.

to reinstate 16d Slotan.

Louis Townsend, a Totnes forward, was injured in the game between Totnes and Dartmouth Athletic. He was kicked on the spine, and had to be taken to Totnes Cottage Hospital, where he died yesterday.

J. N. Cormack, of the Loudon Athletic Club (and exholder of the half-mile championship of Scotland), has just the spine of the previous Harriers, of which club he is the captain.

The Northern Union will consider the question of the Dewsbury club and the prevalence of smallpox in the on Friday next. Owing to so many clubs refusing to visit Dewsbury and play, it has become a matter of life and death to the club.

Fels-Naptha

Every woman who has had her money returned by her grocer (110 in 2 years £1 3 61) has received from us a bar of Fels-Naptha by mail with a letter (Go by the book); and most have answered: "I have. You are right." They went by the book.

Fels-Naptha 39 Wilson street London E C

WE MAY BE PREJUDICED

In favour of our Miniatures,

-50-

Read what others say:-

199, Malmesbury-road, Small Heath, Birmingham, October 15, 1904. I received the Daily Mirror Pendant and am immensely pleased with it. E. OSBORNE.

I received Miniature safely, and am very delighted with it. It is very much admired by my friends.

A. LAWRENCE.

6, Waller-road, New Cross Gate, S.E. I received my Miniature, which you have produced so becautifully, quite safely this morning. I think it reflects the greatest credit on your artist. It is, in my opinion, finished most artistically and skilfully.

E. A. VINCENT.

26, Oakmead-road, Balham, S.W. Sir,—Very many thanks for the charming Pendant with the Miniature of my niece. It is really beautifully done. BEATRICE A. PERCY.

Cromlix, Strafford-road, Twickenham.

Mrs. Chandler received Pendant safely. It has been greatly admired. I am delighted with it. Shall certainly recommend.

Englefield Green, Surrey.

I acknowledge receipt of Miniature, and am pleased to say it gives great credit to your artist.

E. E. H.

Valkyrie, Kingshall-road, Beckenham. October 27.

Dear Sir,—I am delighted with the Miniature you did for me, and enclose two more photos, which please send as Double Pendaut. F. A. WELLESLEY-SMITH.

129, Plumstead Common-road, S.E.
The Miniature received this morning is excellent, and we are so pleased with it. We shall recommend your work to all our friends.
J. SIMMONDS.

The Firs, Oakleigh Park, October 25, 1994.
Many thanks for the Miniature, received tonight. I consider it a splendid likeness. I am quite sure that when my friends see it they will at once want their own photos copied.
SIDNEY C. JUKES.

Westcourt, New Church-road, Hove,
October 21, 1904.

Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of the Miniature, with which I am more than pleased. I consider it a work of art considering the absurdly lowcharge.

L. WHYMAIN.

Trevena, 171, Hitchin-road,

Luton,

October 25, 1904.

I am extremely delighted with Miniature
Brooch, which I received on Saturday last.

I will show it to my friends, and hope ere long to be able to have some more orders for you.

R. LEAVER.

Crown and Railway Hotel, Rayleigh, Essex. I received safely. I have had five Miniatures, and am charmed with them. L. AYLING.

32, Mathison-road.

Thanks very much for the second Miniature which I have received safely, and with which I am very much pleased. INA RUDGE.

Your Miniature for Nothing.

We are anxious to increase the popularity of this journal through the sale of Daily Mirror Miniatures. In order to do this we have decided to present these brilliant little portraits, finished in water-colours, free to our readers. All you have to do is to induce six of your friends to give you their photographs and coupons, with payment, and send them on to us. Enclose your own photograph, of which we will do a Miniature free of charge for the trouble

NOVELTY IN XMAS PRESENTS.

Something entirely new in Christmas Presents this year is the Miniature. Until this season Something entirely new in Christmas Presents this year is the Miniature. Until this season the high prices asked for these cherished ornaments has excluded them from the list of popular Yuletide Gifts. By offering them as an advertisement for the Daily Mirror we have brought them within the reach of everybody. If you wish to secure one of the Daily Mirror Miniatures as a Christmas Gift, you should send off immediately. Owing to the delicate nature of the work and the great care that has to be bestowed on each Miniature, it is impossible for our artists to execute their orders more rapidly than they are doing at present. Remember that it is only as an advertisement for the Daily Mirror that we are able to offer you these beautiful little Miniatures, finished in water-colours and mounted as

Pendant, 2/11; Brooch, 3/3

HOW TO SEND FOR THE MINIATURES.—When sending for the "Daily Mirror"

H	Coutts & Co., and send it to the Miniature Department, "Daily Mirror" Office,
П	2. Carmelite Street, E. C.
Н	NOTE.—If you require a Double Pendant, that is, one with
П
П	Call at 45, New Bond Street, W.; or 2, Carmelite Street, E.C., and see one. Please send the Pally Mirror the Brook or Pendant's and see one.
П	oth of
ı	2, Carmelite Street, E.C.,
Н	and see one. 2, Carmelite Street, E.C., and see one. 20, William of the policy street whether you require the Brown of Health of Rees.
Н	ou rev
Н	ather y
П	Mirrie whe
П	a Dally restance of the state o
11	4 the B
Н	ee selling Hall Eyes in the selling the se
ш	pleas same stress ar or ar or alexio

Small Advertisements are received at the offices of the "Daily Mirror," 45 and 46, New Bond Street, W., and 2, Carmelite Street, E.C., between the hours of 10 and 6 (Saturdays, 10 to 2), at the rate of 12 words 1/- Id. each word afterwards). Advertisement of the street by each property of the street by the str ments, if sent by post, must be accompanied by postal orders crossed Coutts and Co. (stamps will not be accepted).

"Daily Mirror" advertisers can have replies to their advertisements sent free of charge to the "Daily Mirror" Offices, a box department having been opened for that purpose. If re-plies are to be forwarded, sufficient stamps to cover postage must be sent with the advertisement.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

On and after November 21st the rate for all small prepaid Advertisements (except for all small prepaid Advertisements (except Stituations Vacant and Wanted) will be 1/6 for the first 12 (or less) words, and 1½d. for each additional word. The rate for Situations Vacant and Wanted will be 1/s for the first 12 (or less) words, and 1d. per word after. In future there will be no series discount for these Advertisements.

DAILY BARGAINS.

NOTICE.—When replying to Advertisements addressed to the "Daily Mirror" Office no remittance should be enclosed in the first instance.

A.A.—Credit tailoring; suits, 34s.; overcoats, 30s.; terms 5s. monthly; patterns "E" free; please call.— Vittam Tailoring Company, 231. Old-st, E.C.

A BABY'S COMPLETE OUTFIT; 58 articles, 21s.; worth double; Robe, Daygowns, Nightgowns, Flannels; ap proval.—201 or write, Nurse Scott, 251, Uxbridgerd, Shep herd's Bush, near Askew Arms.

BARGAIN.—Underclothing, 10s. 6d. parcel; 3 chemises, 3 knickers, 2 petticoats, 3 lovely nightdresses, 10s. 6d.— wa," 89, Union-td, Clapham.

FREE dainty sample Handkerchief, with illustrated lists; send stamp.—British Linen Company, Oxford-st,

MANUFACTURER'S Parcels, Horrockses' longel full sizes; trimmed Torchon lace; carriage paid kers, 1 chemise, 5s, 9d.; 1 nightdress, chemise, kinck gd.; flannelette, 7s. 6d.—Harvey Mason, 55, Sumner

AT THE BOND-ST. DRESS AGENCY, LTD., 95, New A Bond-st, there is always to be found many wonderful bargains in magainent day and evening model gowns, coats, cloaks, tea-gowns, blouses, petticoata, corsets, and all ladies' out-fitting. (Entrance, Blenheim-st.) Bond-st, there is always to be found gains in magnificent day and evenin ts, cloaks, tea-gowns, blouses, petticos ladies' out-fitting. (Entrance, Blenhein BEATALL" White Remnant Parcels, 1s. 3d. each Damasks, Cambrics, Muslins, Diapers.—Beatall, Rush

BLOUSES made; ladies' materials; excellent cut, fit from 2s.—Miss Course, Rushden.

ONELESS Corsets; full support without steels; weight ever produced; special new material list.—Corset and Clothing Co., Mansfejd-rd, 1., Mention "Mirror."

BUY IRISH LINENS FROM HEADQUARTERS, FAC TORY PRIOES,—Pure flax nursery diaper, 4½d. yard; sheets, towels, bed, table linens, almost at cost prices; samples free,—Huttons, 61, Larne, 1re) d.

TXCUISITE PURE IRBH FLAX LINENS, FACTORY
DISPLOSE - Ladies' handkerchiefs from 2s. 3d, dozen; dinner napkins, 5s. 6d, dozen; apron linen. 7d, cluster yard; splendid samples froe.—Hulton's, 6l. Lutte, Fraind.
TXTRAOBINARILY handoome Fur, fine quality, real white Foxelino Duckes Long Stole, lined white satin; accept 16s. 6d, approval.—Ethel, 58, duckingham-gate, 8tw.

TRAYED-DUT Shirts Look Bad.—Send by post and have them refitted for 2s, 3d, 2s, 9d, or 3s, each; cuffs and collar-bands, 1s, 4d, 1s, 6d, 1s, 9d; remittance with order; returned free in two days.—Frank Eyles, the Shirt Ware-house, 8, Western-rd, Brighton.

FURS.—Elegant Roxburgh Necklet and Muff, 9s. 6d. beautiful real Russian sable hair; never worn.—Miss Mabel, 55, Handforth-rd, S.W.

ADY, going abroa' must sacrifice her handsome rea Furs; sealskin sa ue-coat, £5 5s.; 8tt. marmot sabla atole, 28s.; ditto: "Princess" tie, 6s. 6d.; bear stole 10s. 6d.; approval.—R. T., 176, Ramsden-rd, S.W.

LADY offers very superior quality long Stole Necklet and handsome Muft to match; rich real Russian sable hair; handsome voor; sacrifice 12s. 6d.; ppromby post.—Miss Era, Caxton House, Upper Table Hill, Loddon.

NEW Sealskin Jacket; 25 7s. 5d.; great bargain; ex New Sealskin Jacket; 25 7s. 5d.; great bargain; ex tremely elegant; latest style, sacque shape, double breasted, with revers and storm collar; approval willingly— —Miss Gwendoline, 43s. Olapham-rd.

OCEANIC" Boots; none better; all one price, 10s. 6d. cash returned if not approved.—Roddick, Swaffham l, East Dereham.

rd, East Dereham.

REAL Irish Lawn Handkerchiefs.—Send 1s. 9d. for sample the document of the

SEND to Marple and Co. (Dept. 10), Exchange Walk, Not tingham, for newest patterns of Dress, Coat, Blous. a splendid range of patterns sent on approval tate class of materials required; also frilled and Winter Curtains, Quilts, Blankets, Sheets Wansfead, Essex.

21 - PER PAIR.—Genuine Police and Army Trousers (spande); splendid for working in, or for evening wear carriage 6d. extr.; thousands satisfied.—Harrow and bo., 51. Bruce Castlerd, Tottenham. Montion "Mirror."

2/6 DOWN will secure you fashionable Overcoat or Suit to measure.—M. Scott and Co., smart style Credit Tailors, 64, Cheapside, and 266, Edgware-rd.

DAILY BARGAINS.

Dress.

218. BOOTS for 5s. 46s.; ladies' or gent.'s; Aristocratic feetablished 1901, 23, Cambornell-rd, London.

5,000 LADIES WANYED to send pateard immediately for new winter catalogue of bluess, kirth jackets, to Wynne Bros., 15a, Bridgewater-aq, London. One a customer advays a customer advanced and a customer advanced a wanted.

A BARGAIN.—Sheffield Table Outlery Service; 12 table, but a service of the carrors and does of the carrors

A BARGAIN.—Sheffield Table Outlery Service; 12 table,
but a service of the carrors and does of the carrors

BARGAIN.—Sheffield Carrors

BARGAIN.—Sheffield Carrors

A SWEETHEART'S Curious Love Letter, 6 very fanny pocked.—Hyanas, 15 Covrt. Bishoped. Birmingham.

STHIMA CURED by Zemanon.—Witt for fee tella box

C to Cornford, 4. Loyd's-avenue, London.

COAT of Arma Wate. "Burgley Great" on wrette niew. COAT of Arms Ware. "Burnley Crest" on pretty piece of china, post paid, 12 stamps.—Harrison, Brunshaw trated album; price 10d., free.—Fox, Pearl, Fortamouto.

DAILY MIRROR "FOUNTAIN PEN.—Sold for 2s. 6d.

to advertise the "Daily Mirror." Can be seen and btained at 45. New Bond-st. W. On cale of all Measra.

V. H. Smith and Son's bookstalls; or, post free, 2s. 74d.

rom "Daily Mirror." 2. Carmelite-st. London, E.O.

DAILY BARGAINS

Miscellaneous.

OLD Postage Stamps (used or unused); King's head Colonial stamps, official stamps, and old coins.—Regan, 51, Queen's-rd, Bayswater, London.

PATCHWORK.—" Beatall" 1s. Parcels; Silks, Satins, or Velvets; hundreds testimonials.—Beatall, Rushden. PATCHWORK direct from Factory; startling value; beau sirul large bright Silks; try sample parcel; 2s. 6d. and 1s. 3d.; also 600 crazy, 2s.—Write 1925, "Daily Mirror,' 45, New Bond-st.

45, New Bond-st.—Large parcel silks, velvets, and plusher with 3 crewels, 1s. 2d.; monster bundle Japanese sil for dressing dolls, 6d.—Dept. 3, 57, Fortunegate-rd, Harles

DATCHWORK.—Lovely Silks, Velvets; Is. large parcel.—
Madame Roise, 176, Ramsden-td, Balham, S.W.
Patthwork.—Sirt, Irace pieces Silk Pleinh, lovely
Patthwork.—Sirt, Irace pieces Silk Pleinh, lovely
DATCHWORK.—200 bright Silk pieces, Is. 4d.—George, 25, Oxford-rd, L. Edmonton.

PATOHWORK.-500 beautiful crazywork Silks, 1s. 6d. 300 larger, 1s. 6d; free.-Madam, 6, Williams-cottages Levion.so. Peckham.

Leyton-sq. Peckham.

DICTORIAL Postcards.—Beautifully hand-coloured tion, actresses, types of beauty, art studies, edifferent; 1s. 6d. post free.—Hartland, 9, Alfo. London, N.

London, N.

DICTORIAL Postcards, in beautiful colours and work; thousands of new designs; British and views, charming actresses, colorities, Japanese, comice, etc., 50, all different, 1s. 6d. post free; comice, etc., 50, all different, 51, 6d. post free; postcard Agency, 148-9, Alderegate-st, 1s.; lists free—Postcard Agency, 148-9, Alderegate-st, London, E.C.

SCIENCE HAS PROVED THAT POSSIBLY CURE.

SCIENCE HAS ALSO PROVED THAT THIS INTERNAL TREAT-MENT CANNOT FAIL TO CURE.

which is Falling Out and Prematurely Grey

LATER REMARKABLE EVIDENCE.

ampbell, ir.—In reply to yours of the 15th inst., I wish to say have my full permission to use my name if it is any have my full permission to use my name if it is any ou, as I can restly to the merits of Capsuloids. Here ing instance. Only the day before yesterday a police of the control o

Mrs. GEORGINA WOOD.

LOOK AT THIS PICTURE OF A HAIR GREATLY MAGNIFIED and learn how your hair grows, why it becomes prematurely grey, why it does not grow well, and why it falls out. The whole hair is produced by the multiplication of those growing cells which lie at the duced by the multiplication of those growing cells which lie at the carry the blood containing the rea compactes from which the cells draw all their nourishment. You can easily see from this picture that when the harmful germs settle in those growing cells and go on multiplying, they will laipite the cells, make the hair become loose and fall out, or her will be considered the control of the control o

COUPON. "DAILY MIRROR.

DAILY AIRBOR "MINIATURES sold to advertise the control of the cont

ELECTRIC Pocket Lamps, 1s. 1d., with bullseye 1s. 4d. torches 2s. 6d.; refills 7d; free.—Pease, Leigh-on-Sea.

FISH, Live and Cured; many imitators, but no equals; prime quality, packages selected fish, 61b, 2a.; 91b, 2a. 6d.; 11b, 3a.; 41b, 5a. 6d.; 21b, 5a.; carriage paid; dressed for cooking; schools, etc., supplied; full particular free.—Express Fish Delivery Co., Grimsby. FOUNTAIN Pen, complete with filler, for 1s. 6d.—Pens, 201, Belsize-rd, Kilburn.

URNITURE.—Rich saddlebag suite, handsome square carpet-pattern lino, rug, pretty table, and vases, 10s., or 2s. 6d. week.—Hine, 97, Wiesbaden-rd, Stoke

Newington.

C Watches, 5a; 6d., 4a; 6d., 6a; 6d., 5a; 6d., 7a; 6d., 6a; 6d.

ADV Servancies find Tryol invaluable; keeps hands
Locian and white; post tree, is, is 9d.-Holland, 105,
Locian and white; post tree, is, is 9d.-Holland, 105,
Locian and white; post tree, is, is 9d.-Holland, 105,
Locian and white; post tree, is, is 9d.-Holland, 105,
Locian and white; post tree, is, is 9d.-Holland, 105,
Locian and white; Management of the control of POSTCARD Collectors can have a beautifully-coloured collection of Castles. Abbeys, Cathedrals, Views, etc. for 2s. 6d. P.O.-W. Walton, 4, Rossindel-rd, Hounslow Middlesex.

PRIVATE Christmas Cards, from 1s. dozen; specimens free.—Watkins, Upper-st. Islington.

PERVATE Greeting Cards for Christmas.—Sample book are now ready; sent post free; special discount. 2d in the is. on all early season orders.—George Taplin, Manufacturer, 28, Salisbury-rd, Harringay, London, N.

BEADING Cases (useful and handsome); will hold six a copies of the "Daily Mirror"; is, each, post free to copies of the "Daily Mirror"; is, each, post free to copies of the "Daily Mirror"; is, each, post free to copies of the "Daily Mirror"; is, each, post free to copies of the "Ballandsome post free to copies of the copie

WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by late Dr. Arthur Allbutt; in valuable advice to parents; 360th thousand; 7d. pos free; sealed envelope.—V. Standring, 9, Finsbury-st, London OD. will buy 25 artistic Picture Postcards, sent free; no rubbish or common ones.—Publisher, 6, Grafton-sq

5,000,000 STAMPS, suitable for "Horner Weekly Competition, 5,000, is: 10,000, is: 6d.; 25,000, 3s.; 50,000, 5s.—Wallace, Stam Dealers, 69, Finburr-parement, E.

DAILY BARGAINS.

DAVIS AND CO. (Dept. 12). PAWNBROKERS, PATRONISED BY THE NOBLITY.

PATRONISED BY THE NOBLITY.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS GIVEN AWAY.

THEE GIFT.—To every Furchaser during our Great ClearTAR and Sale we will give absolubly Free a 5. FOUNTAR and Sale we will give absolubly Free a 5. FOUNTAR and Sale we will give absolubly Free a 5. FOUNTAR and Sale we will give absolubly Free a 5. FOUNTAR and Sale will give absolubly Free a 5. FOUNTAR and Sale will give absolubly Free a 5. FOUNTAR and Sale will give a found to a before payment. 10/6 ORGAN-TONE MELODEON, magnificent instrument; 12-fold bellows (metal bound), 3 sets reeds, 4 acting stops, and 2 bass pedal couplers; powerful tone.

21/-. WATCH, jowelled 10 rubies, richly-engraved did timekeeper. 10 years' warranty, week's trial. Is. Superior quality ditto, 25s. GENT'S HANDSOME SOLID GOLD WATCH. 2-plate fully jewelled keyless lever movement, nekeeper; 15 years' warranty. Sacrifice 29s. 6d. 29/6. Approval willingly.

7/6. HANDSOME LONG NECK CHAIN, 18-carat gold

7/6. (stamped) filled, choice design 7s. fdl.: another

(stamped) filled, choice design, 7s, 6d., knother, however, exceedingly beautiful pattern, extra long handsome of the control of the control lingly.

11. 6. FURS.—Magnificent Alexandra Dagmar Necklet, and Multi. Posuctiful Real Russian Sabb Hagr, not been and Multi. Posuctiful Real Russian Sabb Hagr, not been supported by the Company of the Approval willingly.

Daylis and 00. (Dept. 12), PAWNBROKERS AND JEWELLERS, 284, BRIXTON-ROAD, LONDON, S.W. Telephone: No. 683 Brixton.

EMANUEL, 31, CLAPHAM-ROAD,
NEXT AND OVAL ELECTRIC
NOT A TOP TO THE AND OVAL ELECTRIC
NOT A TOP TO THE AND OVAL ELECTRIC
NOT A TOP TO THE AND OVAL ELECTRIC
PAWNEOKERS UNEDEEMED EMPORIUM AND CLEARANCE SALE, COLOSSAL VALUE. Approval Bardior payment. Send potted for compilete flat of Bardior payments. Send potted for compilete flat of Bardior payments.

Calm.

B Elegant rich dark Sable Hair Alexandra Dagmas 6ft. long necklet with 6 tails, and handsome large Multi perfectly new reduced price 12s. 6d.

LERY, 12 table, 12 dessert knives, point carvers, and steel; Crayford ivory handles; reduced price 25s.; SERVICE containing same quantity; unmounted, 9s. 5d.; approximating the containing same quantity; unmounted, 9s. 5d.; approximating the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating same prices and services of the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating same prices are provided to the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating same prices of the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating same prices of the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating same prices of the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating same prices of the containing same quantity; unmounted 9s. 5d.; approximating the containing same prices of the containin steel; Orayford ivory fanadies; reduces price sees; BEM-CONTAINTY SPOONS and FORKS and FORKS; I teasure spoons; 60 pieces; stamped 41 E.P.NS.; reduced price 26s. 6d.; approval. FISH KRIVES monuted; induced price, 16s. 6d.; companion case Dessert, 16s. 6d.; elaborate case Fish Carvers. 5s. 6d.; approval. FORKS; bandome case, 6 pairs silver, price 16s. 6d.; companion case Dessert, 16s. 6d.; elaborate case Fish Carvers. 5s. 6d.; approval. proved Silver Hair and the state of t GOLD HALL-MARKED PHOTO PEN-I ANDSORIE set round with four diameters and any and I DANY, set round with four diameters and any and in moroco case; reduced, prior 16s. 6d.; a DAOK CHAIN; I moroco case; reduced, prior 16s. 6d.; also others, very hands intervals; reduced price, 6s. 6d.; also others, very hands intervals; reduced price, 6s. 6d.; also others, very hands intervals; reduced price, as and approval, suppose the property of the pro LT 18-ct. gold (stamped) filled; later-average very hand-some designs, 5c. and 5d. disc, also offices, very hand-some designs, 5c. and 5d. disc, 6d.; also offices, very hand-some designs, 5c. and 5d. disc, and accessories; reduced price, 19s. 6d; approval, LADY'S ELEGANT SILK UMBRELLA; 9s. 6d.; 7in, deep silver hall-marked chased handle, Fox's frame; If deep siver hall-marker classed manus, examination in model approximate the control of the con

Wanted to Purchase.

TYPEWRITER wanted; any good make; also a cheap one,
Beta, 74, Chancery-lane, London.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

DORD'S Planos.—25 per cent, discount for cash, or 14s. 6d. per month; second-hand planos, short horizontal grands, from 25s. upright grands, 17s. 6d.; cottages, 10s. 6d. to 18s. and 76. Southampton-row, London, W.O. Planos exchanged.

TALIAN MANDOLINE; genuine Sistema de Meglio; in case; 15s. 6d.; approval.—Tutor, 6, Grafton-sq. Clapham

DHONOGRAPHS and Records for cash or weekly and monthly payments; Triumph phonograph price of the first payments of the phonograph price of the phonograph price of the phonograph price of the phonograph of the p

PIANO; pretty Cottage; nice tone and appearance; take

Newington.

PlanOSI ORGANSI—Shenstone's great record sale; 1,000 must be cleared at once; great opportunity, for provincial and other buyers; 7-oct. iron frame planoforces from 12 to 50 guineas, from 3s. monthly; no deposit; 10 years warranty; chance of a lifetime; 220 Migs. Cleared, W.; 55, Newington-butts, S.E.; 226, Highert, Leyton, E.; 202, Highest North, East Ham; 8, Chamberlayne Wood-rd, Kensal-rise, N.W.; Wagner House, 127, East-hill, Wandworth, S.W.

PETS, LIVE STOCK, AND VEHICLES.

MAJOR RICHARDSON'S (F. Z. S.) celebrated kennel of Scotch and Aberdeen Terriers, 4 and 5 guineas; Pups

BOARD RESIDENCE & APARTMENTS. BOARD-RESIDENCE. (Holland Park).—Double room vacant; suit married couple or friends; 50s.; single 21s.; every comfort.—47, Clarendon-rd.

Other Small Advertisements on page 2.

Printed and Published by THE PICTORIAL NEWSPAPER Co., LTD., at 2, Carmelite-street, E.C.—Tuesday, November 15, 1904.